WHCB returns to the air

W.H.C.B., the Highacres Radio Station is back on the air this fall term celebrating its 10th anniversary with a refurbished 5 watt transmitter. This transmitter will allow for clearer emissions while attracting area promotional advertisements. The station broadcasts from the South Building and is located at 1580 am on the dial. Steve French, the station manager, and program director Eric Powers praised this year's turnout of a few dozen students who have shown their eagerness to participate in the year's program.

The current program calls for "album-oriented rock music," which has been aided by over $150.00 worth of donations from various record companies in the form of promotional records. However, the selection is still limited due to thefts in previous years and Steve French has requested club members to loan their albums to W.H.C.B. for playing time. W.H.C.B. is on the air 24 hours a day and has authorization from W.M.M.R. to rebroadcast its music when no D.J. is available. W.H.C.B. also has plans to sponsor a band to perform on campus sometime in the future.

We want you!

Do you love to be creative? Do you love to let your imagination run wild? Do you enjoy writing? If you do, the Features section of the HIGHACRES COLLEGIAN wants you. That is right, you! There are no commitments, all you have to do is drop off your articles at the COLLEGIAN office in the South Building. And remember, there are no rules in feature writing, and the only limit is your imagination.

Your vote is your voice Nov. 4

Election Day, November 4, is fast approaching, and being away at college is no excuse for not voting. The Twenty-sixth Amendment gave the right to vote to anyone 18 years of age. However, in the 1976 National Election, of the 69% of the college students registered to vote, only 49% did. During the recent primaries, these statistics have dropped. The reasons for not voting are many, but not knowing how to go about it shouldn't be.

In Pennsylvania, in order to vote in any election, the voter must be 18 by Election Day. If he will be, then he must first register with his local county registration office. Registration forms can be picked up at local banks, state stores, or any local government office. The form must be filled out and then mailed to the county courthouse. A registration card will be returned by mail.

The college student has two options for registering: he may register either with his home county or with the local address used at college. But, when it comes time for voting, the voter may only vote for the candidates in the county and district registered, and also for candidates in state and national races.

For the voter that knows he will not be present in his registered county on election day, the absentee ballot is available. An absentee ballot can be obtained by writing to the local registration office of the voter's county.

The voter chooses his candidates and returns the ballot by mail.

The non-participation of certain groups has important implications. According to a recent Gallup Poll, "If everyone of legal age were to vote, the balance of electoral power would shift toward the young."

On campus, registration forms are available from Dr. Eugene Miller in room 102 in the Memorial Building. Register, and then see the electoral process through by voting on November 4.
