

The Highacres Collegian

Vol.17, No. 2

February 1982

Active spring predicted for WHCB

Since the beginning of the Winter Term, the campus radio station, WHCB, has been inactive. The radio club's studio is located in the South Building.

Some radio club members went to the studio several times to do a radio show, but the door was locked and none of the station officers could be found. Phil Voystock, a station D.J., made his own attempts to operate the station during lunch periods until he heard rumors that the stations transmitting mechanism had been disconnected. "Once I went in and there was no power at the studio," said Voystock. "I wound up doing it just for practice." Bob Tier, another D.J., commented, "I enjoyed working at WHCB, but if the transmitter is disconnected, no one wants to talk to himself."

WHCB transmitted through the Service Electric Cablesystem this year, meaning that FM listeners could receive the station's broadcasts by hooking their radios up to a television cable and tuning to 91.1 FM. For on campus listeners, WHCB broadcasted at 1580 AM.

Dee Hartman, a Resident Hall Assistant said that, "Dorm students would like to listen to the station's broadcasts if they go back on the air."

Station members have expressed an interest in seeing the station put back into service. Tony Leshinski, HIGHACRES COLLEGIAN Photography Editor, said that he "would definitely like to see the station back in operation." Members of the other two communications media on campus, the COLLEGIAN and the Hazleton Campus Video, have also expressed similar thoughts acknowledging the fact that the addition of radio broadcasting is a definite asset to the campus.

Steve Connolly, a WHCB official, said that the organization does have events planned for the Spring Term. "We're working on bringing 'Ladies and Gentlemen, the Rolling Stones,' on campus. We're also planning on conducting tours of the studio at the Arts and Crafts Festival," said Connolly. He added, "We'll definitely be broadcasting by the first day of the Spring Term."

George Caliva, WHCB advisor, was unavailable for comment.

Unmanned WHCB studio in South building. Station has been inactive since the beginning of the winter term.

Residence hall lounge vandalized

By Tony Leshinski

During the early morning hours of Friday, January 22, an unknown person or group of persons broke into the cashbox of the Super Galaxian video game located in the Residence Hall lounge. In addition to stealing an undetermined amount of money, the culprit or culprits stacked lounge furniture to dangerous heights around the room and on the ping-pong tables. Upon discovering the theft, the lounge was quickly barred from student use by the Residential Life Staff and was to remain closed until the guilty person was "man enough to return the money," according to a notice posted on the lounge entrance. This act was later rescinded by Cyril Falatko, Residential Life Co-ordinator.

"By keeping the lounge closed the rest of the year, we would lose too much money on the video games and pinball machine there," Falatko explained to the Collegian. Falatko went on further to say that the video game was still usable. "Other than the lock being bent, the machine is okay."

As a result of the break-in, the lounge will now be locked every night at 12:00. At that time Residence Hall students will not

"By keeping the lounge closed the rest of the year, we would lose too much money on the games and pinball machine there."

Cy Falatko
Residential Life Coordinator

only lose the use of the video games and pinball machine, but will also lose access to the ping-pong tables and one of the hall's two color television sets. Anyone caught in the lounge after midnight will be charged with violating residence hall policy.

Anyone who may have information on the identity of the culprit or culprits is asked to contact Cy Falatko or any of the four Residence Assistants at the Residence Hall Office.

Damaged Galaxian machine in residence hall game room.

SGA financial status reviewed

In preparation for the spring term, the Student Government Association is reviewing its financial status. In June of 1981 it received $6400 from University Park to begin preparation for the fall term of 1981. The n in the fall term, it r eceived an addition al $3200.

The group has $2373 devoted to the purchase of a class gift, $700 in the "Director's Special Account," an account that allows Dr. David along with the SGA ecide is along awith the SGA decide where this money can best be channeled, and about $2000 dollars for improvements to the Commons and the game room in the dormitory. The government also had an additiona income of

please see "SGA" page 5

Condors drop exciting game in season finale

By Donna Rose Roberts

Although they lost, the Penn State Hazleton Campus Condors' season came to an exciting and fitting end as they lost to York PSU, 77-76, in the Condors' first Commonwealth Campus Athletic game since 1949.

During the first half the Condors enjoyed a lead as large as twelve points and were able to maintain the lead until midway through the second half. With a little more than nine minutes remaining in the game the York Lions were able to surpass the Condors for the first time. The lead then see-sawed

please see "CONDOR SEASON" pg. 16