

Highacres reps attend U-Park conference

On January 22 and 23, three faculty members and a student attended a conference at University Park on "General Education." This conference was held in accordance to the upcoming semester changes and the "Perspective for the 80's."

The faculty members who attended were Dr. Alan Price, Mrs. Diedre Jago, and Prof. Richard McKinstry. The student participant was Sophomore Alita Rovito.

The basis of this conference was to look at the fundamentals of a general education. What comprises a student with a general education: What are the objectives and assessments of a general education? What common learning is essential? How are the general education courses related to professions in this contemporary world? Other questions along the same lines were raised.

The four Hazleton delegates to this conference will meet in session to further discuss what was talked about at the conference. A final conference will be conducted on May 7 and 8.

26 students honored in Who's Who

The 1982 edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN JUNIOR COLLEGES will carry the names of 26 students from The Pennsylvania State University who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

These students are on Who's Who for 1981-82.

Campus receives new Cont-Ed assistant

Mr. Larry R. Gingrich has recently replaced Mr. Park Lenhart as Assistant Director for Continuing Education at Hazleton Campus of The Pennsylvania State University. Mr. Lenhart has accepted a similar position at Penn State's Shenango Valley Campus in Sharon, Pa.

An alumni of Appalachian State University in Boone, North Carolina, Mr. Gingrich received his Bachelor of Science degree in Health, Physical Education and Recreation in 1973 and is certified to teach grades K-12. He was awarded the Master of Arts degree from the University of South Florida in 1974.

Prior to coming to the Hazleton Campus Mr. Gingrich was the Area Representative for Continuing Education at the Ogontz Campus of Penn State. He also served in that position at the Allentown Campus. He held the position of Assistant Resident Instructor at the University of South Florida and Instructor of Physical Education at Appalachian State University.

His duties as Assistant Director for Continuing Education include: Assisting in establishing goals and objectives for Hazleton Campus, management of a comprehensive continuing education program on and off campus, university representative to business, industry and the community for educational services available from Penn State, and participation in professional conferences concerning higher education.

Mr. Gingrich is affiliated with the National University Continuing Education Association, the Association for Continuing Higher Education, the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and the American Society for Training and Development.

He is married to the former Patricia Stevenson and has two children. Mr. Gingrich resides in Conyngham.
