

No Joke...?

Rehearsing for Sesame Street ... this man is preparing to play the famous "One of these things don't belong together" game. Can you figure it out? Well tape and tire both begin with "T" while peanuts begins with "P." He finds the privacy and seclusion of the Classroom Building roof an inviting atmosphere. Actually the man is hard at work repairing the building roof, later he'll rest in the tire while enjoying some hot peanuts.

2 Mini B&M's

By Steve Zarick

Well, believe it or not, I don't have any major complaints this issue. But you're not getting off the hook that easily, for I, a servant of cynicism, have several smaller complaints. These B's & M's are old; nevertheless, someone has to keep them alive.

First, let me pick on the weather. Before coming to this campus, I was warned of the arctic climate that is prevalent in this region. In fact, I really don't mind the cold weather (believe it or not). But I do not find the fluctuations such as we have been experiencing to be pleasing. In fact, it's a pain in the ———!

Example: I sent home for my spring coat during the first warm spell we had. You remember it. You were probably stuck wearing a quilted, lined, sub-zero down jacket in weather too cold to go without a coat but too warm for the only garb you had available, winter clothing. As soon as my spring jacket gets back from home, it's freezing outside and snow (once again) is falling. I went to New York for a Saturday to escape this climate only to be soaked in the rain. Ya' juss' can't win!

End of first complaint. Incidentally have you checked your mailbox lately? Well, folks, I'll be damned if I know I checked mine or not. Again, I'm sure you know what I'm talking about. The school insists on constantly changing the mailbox assignments.

It's bad enough that P.S.U. (especially when dealing with U. Park) calls you by digit. Now, they can't decide what number to call you. Now, I have to check five mailboxes because the numbers have been changed that often. The only advantage to this pigeonhole olympics is that I get to read other people's mail! These gems are sometimes unprintable! But then again, someone probably reads all my mail (for all the mail I ever get, the person could be illiterate and get away with it).

Well, to close up, I leave you with this thought. At P.S.U., you're not just a name ... you're a number. Or maybe two numbers. Or maybe four numbers and several statistics. Perhaps five numbers, several stats, and without a doubt, an account number or two.
