

"Cerula" continued from pg. 1

Over the years Mr. Cerula has received many honors which include, Outstanding Young Man of the Year in 1966. He also received a number of Public Citations from: Greater Hazleton Chamber of Commerce (1965, 1967, and 1969), Greater Hazleton Heart Fund (1965), Hazleton Campus Student Government Association (1965), Greater Hazleton Arthritis Foundation (1977-78), Greater Hazleton Centennial Association (1957), Greater Hazleton Community Chest (1962), and the Can Do Inc., Industrial Development Service, 25-year award (1981).

At the Hazleton Campus Mr. Cerula is the Secretary of the Advisory Board Council and played an active role in raising revenue for the construction of the Physical Education Building in 19 . Mr.

Cerula is also known for being one of Penn State's greatest football fans. Dr. Harold Aurand, chairperson of the Hazleton Penn State Club, said Mr. Cerula is the greatest "Monday Morning Quarterback" Penn State ever had.

A banquet and roast in his honor will be held Tuesday, May 23, at Genetti's Best Western Motor Lodge. At the banquet Mr. Cerula will be presented with a plaque and be roasted by outstanding community members.

He is married to the former Joan Enama of Nuremberg, Pa., and is employed as a teacher at A.D. Thomas Elementary School, in the Hazleton Area School District. They have four children, Paul and Patricia, twins; Jeffrey, and Mrs. Eugene Rafalli.

ROTC cadets honored

The annual Army ROTC Awards Ceremony was held May 13 at the campus gym. LTC Robert Winters, Assistant Professor of Military Science at University Park was the reviewing officer. A number of ROTC cadets were honored for their accomplishments during the basic course of Military Science at the Hazleton Campus.

Yvonne Cormier, the cadet company commander, was presented the Hazleton Campus Director's Award. Yvonne received the military sabre for being the most outstanding sophomore cadet and for demonstrating continuous excellence in military subjects over a two-year period. Other single awards were: The Superior Cadet Award to Jim Fryer of the freshman class and Charles Smulligan of the sophomore class; The National Sojourners Award to Jim Demyanovich; The Retired Officers Association Award to Scott Prescott; The Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America Award to Yvonne Cormier; The Association of the U.S. Army Military History Book Award to Alan Parsons.

Numerous other ROTC cadets were recognized for military excellence, leadership, campus sports participation, academic achievement, and participation in other campus activities.

Major Ralph Hicks stated, "This year's ROTC classes were outstanding and it has been a pleasure to work with such high caliber students during my last year at Highacres."

"Typesetter" continued from pg. 1

said Krushinsky, but I told Lori (Emerich) about it and she made the necessary arrangements."

The typesetter is a Compugraphic 9000, and gives the Collegian the ability to set its own type. Currently the organization sends its copy to be typeset to the Times News in Leighton. "The eventual savings could amount to as much as $300 per issue, meaning that by the time the fourth issue is published next year, the typesetter will have paid for itself," said Jerry Trently, an Executive Editor for the branch campus publication. "The potential for this machine is fantastic, since other campus organizations, like New Horizons will be able to do some of their own work on the machine when the Collegian is not in the process of typesetting."

An additional $500 was loaned interest-free to the Collegian by the Hazleton Campus Alumni Club. The Collegian will have one year to pay off the loan.

While at University Park, some of "the Highacres Collegian staff members were given a brief tour of the Daily Collegian's facilities by Hamilton.

YEAR-END SALE

up to 20% off
on clothing and gift items
starts May 10, 1982

--ALSO--

on May 19th and 20th

BOOK BUY-BACK
sell your textbooks
back to the bookstore

PENN STATE
BOOKSTORE

Have a Good Summer!

Collegian elects editor

Freshman Pam Eppinger, a 1981 graduate of Woodstown High School in Southern New Jersey, will serve as Executive Editor for the Highacres Collegian for the 1982-83 school year.

On April 30, Collegian Executive Editors Jerry Trently, Kelly Yale, and George Yanoshik conducted an election to fill this position. A constitutional change made the provision that only one person would be elected to fill the position next year as opposed to three as it now stands.

Pam was selected, through a vote of entire Collegian staff, out of three nominations made by the current Executive Editors for the position.

Next year, she will be responsible for overseeing the overall production of the Collegian. Currently she serves as Feature Editor to the publication.

At Highacres, Pam is a Journalism and Secondary Education-English major.

Dr. Michael Santulli is the Collegian adviser.

Pam's selection as Executive Editor was announced at the annual Awards Banquet conducted April 30.

Donna Rose Roberts, Collegian Sports Editor, was named "Staffer of the Year" at the banquet. She, too, was selected through a vote of the staff.

The Highacres Collegian May 1982