What is ROTC?

by Bethann Longenecker

ROTC, in case you never knew, stands for Reserve Training Corps, and it has three branches, Army, Navy, and Air Force. Here at Hazleton there is Army ROTC. They are the guys and gals who are dressed in Army fatigues every Thursday, and of the guys have the "buzz"-style haircuts. Well, clothes and haircuts are not what ROTC is all about. It is a course that a student (male or female) can take who likes a challenge, and would like to build his or her self-confidence.

the uniform is worn, and drills are instructed, Officers and during the class period students learn Army tactics and rules. Ninety students are enrolled in ROTC this semester, but only 20 are girls. More girls are encouraged to join because it is a good opportunity to learn leadership skills that will help later in life in the job market.

The Company Commander of the ROTC-H (Hazleton) Company is Mike Close, and Gina Orrico is the highest ranking female with a rank of second lieutenant. The adult leaders of H Company are Captain Richard Arthur and Sargeant Raul Ramirez.

ROTC is a one-credit course that has a "lab" period on Thursdays, and a class period another day. The "lab" period is the day
