

FROM BROADWAY TO HAZLETON

by Beth Ann Longenecker

Auditions for the musical "Carousel" proved successful as more than 50 people went to "show off" their talents. Students were instructed through a three part audition that included singing, dancing, and reading parts from the play script. After a grueling 3 hours, the auditions finally ended with a "Chorus Linè" type line up. People auditioning were told to say their name and age one by one.

Heidi E. Gibson is the director of "Carousel" while James Gibson will be the music director. The other jobs from choreographer to costumes, to the actors on stage will all be by PSU students. 30 students recieved acting roles, while many others will work back stage with lighting and costumes.

The show will be performed March 18-26 in the Commons, with a small charge of admission. Make plans to come see a performance and support some of your fellow Penn Staters!!!

CRATE THIEVES BEWARE

Throughout Pennsylvania colleges and universities, there is a new law being whispered and warned about the Milk Crate Law. Yes, as of December 6, 1987 a new state law went into effect on making it illegal to steal milk crates. If or when you are caught, the fine could be upto $300.00 or a jail sentence of upto ninety days.

As Earl Fink of the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers in Harrisburg says, "Most students do not realize that the annual loss in stolen milk cases exceeds millions and millions of dollars in the state of Pennsylvania alone. The only way these dollars can be recovered is by raising milk prices- which is something nobody wants. It hurts consumers, it hurts the farmers, it even hurts the students who are on the school meal plan. Everybody loses."

Milk crates are perfect for the college student as everyone knows. They are light, durable, and colorful. But the greatest attribute of these milk crates are their prices. They are free, but are they? Cathy Salak, coordinator of South Halls, says, "If it is the law, everyone must obey it."

Fink urges students who currently have milk crates in their rooms to return them to any local store that sell milk. "That way, you can avoid the risk of a heavy fine and criminal record if caught in possession by the authorities. Fink concludes, "The authorities now have the power to punish milk crate thieves and it looks like they will exercise that power."

BUSHMAN'S BULL

For this issue's editorial, I'd like to restrain all my critical views about this campus (faculty, administration, and students) until later dates. One point I do want to express is my view on how this paper looks and reads.

My goal as editor-in-chief is to first keep this campus well informed of events past, present, and future. And to accomplish this, I've assimilated two types of papers, The New York Times, and USA Today. The New York Times type of paper for it's in-depth reporting and articles, and the USA Today for it's flashy articles and surveys to secure everyone's interest.

My second goal is to get this club and campus off it's butt. With a limited crew of 4 to 5 elves, these papers wont be written, printed, and distributed everyday, I've realized that. But that doesn't cover up the fact that a paper has a responsibility for it's readers, it does. With that I want to add that I'm welcoming any articles from anyone concerning anything, typed, written, printed, or etched in blood. (Just kidding about the blood) Articles may be received by any club member or slide your writing under the office door. (basement of commons)

As I've said before, I like flashy articles. So to keep this flashy, good-bye for now.

ROTC UPDATE

The ROTC program is back in full swing. Everyone is looking foward to a semester filled with fun, excitement, and new experiences. This semester has brought many new people to the chain of command. I would like to welcome all those in a new leadership position. Congratulations, I wish you all the luck and success in these positions.

ROTC will be doing many activities this semester. Currently the Rangers headed by Cadet Lieutenant Andy McConnel, are working hard to get in shape, and testing their military knowledge for the Ranges Beret Test on Feb. 5+6 at
