ACCORDING TO FIRST FLOOR GIRLS, V-DAY...

"Valentine's Day is the time to make up for all the times you have forgotten to say I Love You!"

"Valentine's Day is receiving a single red rose from that someone special."

"is a romantic dinner for two, red roses and then 'I Love You'"

"means love, sex and romance."

"means showing the people you love how much you really care."

"is sharing, loving and giving."

"is finding someone on that day so you can spend it with him next year on Valentine's Day."

"means being with the person you really care about."

"is letting that secret admirer know that you exist."

"is having that special date which you've always dreamed of."

"is forgiving, loving and sharing."

"is telling the one you love, you love them."

"is getting a long distance phone call."

"means spending the whole day wrapped in your lover's arms."

"is gaining 10 lbs. from all the chocolates you've had."

I ask you, after about fifteen and a half hours dedicated to the publication of this paper we're down to the last corner to fill, with what shall we fill it with?

Well, I would like to thank everyone who did anything at all in making my job easier. To my roommate/secretary who in the midst of studying E MCH would drop anything to hunt me down. Also to Paco who told us how to abbreviate E MCH.

no photos this issue thanks to Martin's photo developing department.

A very special thanks to Gina and Andrea who stuck it out with me .

But the prime thank you, I mean the coolest, sincere, peachy keenist thank you goes out to the one and only...Dixter. Hats off to you Mark.

It's now 10:55, and time to depart and study for that Econ 4 exam tomorrow. Wish us, Gina and I luck. Have mercy Mr. Biacchi.
