The Rose
By: Gina Hammond

Black shows on the outside
Saying all that is unsaid
Hiding the love which is sacred within

Red seeps through the black
Releasing what has been said
Our relationship lies within this single Rose.

Sonnet

Economy recessed (Thank Mr. Bush)
Returning to school, training once again;
Up the mountain with a heart aching push,
to contend with the Penn State regimen.
Mathematical problems to be solved,
Tests for chemical reactivity,
Graphical images to be evolved,
Poetry to add creativity.
Learning of strength and gaining of insight, analyze where the system's gone awry
And effect its repair, to set it right;
with production quotas to satisfy.
Can the odds be beaten, the long shot show?
Elusive title engineer bestowed?

Rick,
Aladdin is a very good movie! I'm sorry about your car.

Luv Stacy

Keith,
NO MORE HAMMERS!
Happy Valentine's Day.
Luv Stacy

Jodie,
I will have you!
Your faithful servant,
Todd

To the humanoid I love who's name is Benji
I wish you would notice me,
even though I'm, Ferengi

Eric,
The chain represents one of the chains around my heart, which you so carefully broke with your touch.
Always ,
Gina

Scott,
The search is over.
Love Tonia

I Love My Roomate.

If I Don't, You Can't

By: Stacey Ritchie

If I don't open up
You can't hurt me
If I don't speak
You can't deny me
If I don't look
You can't show me
If I don't Love
You can't kill me.

Even though we are apart
More each and every day
You are still in control of my heart
My love for you does not stray
And I hope, to my side, yours will sway

When we are alone
And we do not have to go
I love to spend it with you alone
And hope the time will pass so slow
So our relationship can continue to grow.

I love you so very much
And I always think of you,
My love for you I vouch
To show you that I am true
I pray that you will feel the same way too.
