

College Heads Visit

Dr. Charles W. Stoddart, Dean of the School of Liberal Arts, paid his regular spring visit to the Center Thursday, May 11, in the company of Mr. David B. Pugh, Supervisor of Undergraduate Centers. Dr. Stoddart met with a number of students to discuss their college problems.

Mr. Edwin L. Zoller, Administrative Head of the DuBois Center, and Mr. Pugh paid a brief call at the Center on Friday afternoon, May 26.

(h, k)

The curious have been inquiring about our column heading. We refer all questions to the department of mathematical information, where they discover that the curious symbolism (h,k) is a common notation for the center of a geometrical locus.

The Penn State Collegian was recently awarded first class honor rating at the nineteenth conference of the Associated Collegiate Press All American Critical Service. Competing among 401 collegiate papers from forty-six states, the District of Columbia, and Hawaii, the Penn State paper was surpassed by only five others in the nation.

Among the center news sheets the palm for the year undoubtedly goes to the DUC for general excellence. The Hazleton Collegian expects to get back in the running now that the mimeographed format has been discarded.

The Student Government Association of the Fayette Center has established a collegiate scholarship carrying a stipend of fifty dollars a year. The award will be made to a deserving freshman on the basis of a competitive examination this June.

DuBois' May Queen started a movement here for May King—a movement which quickly died. We are looking forward to the day when enough girls are enrolled at Hazleton to make possible so pleasant a ceremony as the crowning of a May Queen.

The annual dinner-dance at Schuylkill comes early this year on June 2 at the Schuylkill Country Club. That ought to be a good relaxation before exams—if you can relax at such a time.

Exhibit In Library

For the past two weeks eleven water colors and one pastel sketch have drawn interested observers to the library. The artist, Miss Ruth M. Koch, teacher of art in the Grant Street Public School, studied at Penn State with Prof. Andrew W. Case, and has since found her art an absorbing hobby. Miss Koch has exhibited in several eastern cities and recently hung several of her works in the exhibition of local artists at the Hazleton Public Library.

The favorable comment on the exhibition both from the student body and from the visitors at the recent open house will ensure a repetition of art exhibitions of this sort, according to Mr. Melvin W. Isenberg, Instructor in Engineering and Freehand Drawing, who arranged for the showing.

Faculty Summer Plans

The members of the Center faculty have a busy summer planned for themselves. Mr. Eiche, Administrative Head, will be in his office to interview prospective students and their parents. Two members of the faculty plan to teach in Penn State summer sessions. Mr. Goas will teach medieval and American history on the campus, and Mr. Janssen, sociology and political science at the Teacher Training Session in Altoona. Two others will pursue advanced work in their respective fields. Mr. Kieft will continue work on his doctoral thesis at the Penn State campus, and Mr. Isenberg will go to Harvard to enroll in a fine arts course. Mr. Shetler was either reticent or uncertain concerning his summer plans. After their marriage, Miss Yotter and Mr. Herpel will travel to an unannounced destination.

Council Reorganizes

Student Council at its first meeting in May voted to increase its officers from three to four. The office of secretary-treasurer had become so heavy a responsibility that Council amended Article VI, Section 1 of the student government constitution to read, "The officers of the Student Council shall be (a) President, (b) Vice-President, (c) Secretary, (d) Treasurer." This change will become effective at the organization of the council next year.
