PING PONG TOURNAMENT STARTS NEXT THURSDAY

Charles Vitabile, chairman of the Student Council Committee on Athletics announced today that the first of a series of ping-pong tournaments will get under way next Thursday, October 16. Only singles will be played.

Entrants are requested to give their names on a sheet of paper to Charles Bruch, Jack Maher, or Charles Vitabile before 4 o'clock Wednesday.

The contest schedule will be posted Thursday morning. All preliminary games up to, but not including, the quarter finals have to be played before Tuesday, October 21.

NOW IS THE TIME

The Boy's Quartet has been organized and is holding practice sessions; a swing band is getting under (s)way; football enthusiasts at least have a ball; a ping-pong tourney is in the offing; the "Collegian" is beginning to function; the Women's Club has elected officers and has outlined plans for fall activities. But what about you would-be artists, photographers, bridge players, glee clubbers, and other riders of a hobby?

The "Frosh Bible" gives you a brief summary of extra-curricular activities at the Center in past years. If YOU are interested in seeing any of the clubs re-organized or new ones started, gather together some like-minded friends, talk it over with an interested faculty adviser, and get started NOW.

CUSTOMS CHANGE TODAY

Starting today, freshmen will be expected to demonstrate for any dubious sophomore their knowledge of Penn State songs and cheers. This custom will be continued for two weeks.

Frosh will of course continue to supply matches to upperclassmen; to wear their dinks, tipping them upon request; and to carry their "bibles" (no strings attached).

Except for such elite members of the freshman class as Winnett, name cards are no longer required.

TRIBUNAL TO MEET FRIDAY

Court will resume Friday night at 7. The place will again be the social rooms of the YMCA. The reception committee reports that the list of "honored" guests is not as yet complete. They promise, however, that no one will be slighted.
