

HAZLETON COLLEGIAN

PUBLISHED SEMI-MONTHLY
BY THE STUDENTS OF THE HAZLETON UNDERGRADUATE CENTER

CO-EDITORS
Francis Fatsie - Gerald Hassel	Art Editor - - - - - Sigmund Knies
Sports Editor - - - - - Leon Baden	Literary Editor - - - Bernard Dvorschak
Asst. Sport Editor - - - Paul Cerulla	STAFF WRITERS
Feature Editor - - - - - Daniel Wargo	Joe Adams, George Demshock, Ralph
Society Editor - - - - - Grace McBride	Kline John Perna, June Reinmiller,
Circulation Manager - - Raymond Saul	Jim Fisher, Al Rosen, Thomas Rogan,
Club Reporter - - - - - Joe Olivia	Hugh Close, Ray Phillips, Marguerite
Staff Photographer - - - Wilson Barto	Rondish, Guy O'Hazza, Anita Goldberg, I. Smith, Chas. Maurer, E. Kostic.

SCHEDULE FOR OFFICE INTERVIEWS FOR SPRING SEMESTER PROGRAMS

All students returning for the Spring Semester are asked to fill out a tentative program so that a schedule of classes may be arranged. Students are asked to report to the office at their earliest available period during the assigned days. The interview schedule follows:

	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.
Week of Nov. 3—	3rd Semes. Science		3rd Semester Lower Division Students.
Week of Nov. 10—	2nd Semes. L. D.	2nd Semes. Eng. & Sci.	1st Semes. Science	1st Semes. Agriculture	1st Semes. Lower Div.
Week of Nov. 17—	1st Semester Lower Division Students—All Week.
Week of Dec. 1—	Any person missed in above table—come in any time this week.

You Just Can't Win

By GEORGE DEMSHOCK

School life is odd. Try to please everyone and here's what will happen.

If you recite often in class—you're showing off.

If you don't—you're stupid.

If you stay in some night to do your homework—you're bucking.

If you don't—you're lazy.

If you're seen talking to one of the HUC's few gals—you're beating your pals' time.

If you're not — you're shy and bashful.

If you boast about your three in some subject—you're a braggart.

If you don't—you're indifferent.

If you have a big vocabulary and use it—you want to attract attention.

If you don't—you're lax and don't want to learn.

If you live up the class with some remark—you're a wise guy.

If you don't—you're a dead head.

If you ask questions in class—you want everyone to look your way.

If you don't — you're understood to know everything.

If you're seen talking to one of your instructors—you're apple polishing.

If you're not — as sure as HUC stands for Hazleton Undergraduate Center, there'll be some gossip flying around about you. If you can figure it out take your choice.

A few of our fellow co-eds who so willingly participated in the HUC float could tell us a few interesting remarks they overheard from the sidelines. The worn expression, "State Penn" for Penn State, was a repeated, playful pun.

Marguerite Rondish and Grace McBride still don't know if they appeared undernourished or what, but they do know that spectators tossed peanuts their way more than once.

Believe it or not, some of our vets still cling to their service careers and what is more, they are going out of their way to continue phases of it. Margaret Kohier, ex-Spar, and several other vets who have acquired the title, "ham operator" (amateur radio operator), are attempting to organize a club of their own.

Now to sit and wait for another breeze and more thoughts.

THOUGHTS IN THE BREEZE

By JANE REINMILLER

At the HUC radio show on Oct. 17 it was evident that Jane Kenvin did not give a visiting Westerner a favorable reception when she doused him from her perch in the WAZL Studios, seventh floor, Hazleton National Bank. The angry recipient became all the more enraged when he stormed into the elevator and the boy asked him if it were raining outside! It took a half-hour but the glee club finally pacified him.

If you haven't already done so be sure to notice the resemblance between freshman D. D. O'Donnell and Van Johnson.

WANTED ALIVE: CARTOONISTS

Do you know someone who draws a fairly recognizable picture? SURE YOU DO! That's my man—or men. How often do you sit in class, gazing out of the window or scribbling with your pencil or pen on the covers of your notebooks, thinking of easier ways to go to college than the way you're going now? Lost time can pay dividends if you've got a good doodle that you think someone would get a kick out of and here is the way to go about getting those dividends.

The Art Editor of the Hazleton Collegian needs cartoonists, or as you may know them, good doodlers. All you have to do is this: If you notice someone in class scribbling away during a lecture on something other than his notebook and it has a humorous appeal that you think the student body would enjoy seeing in the COLLEGIAN, just bring it on a scrap paper to the Hazleton Collegian office and mark it for the attention of the Art Editor. He'll do the rest. All students are invited to join in on this Cartoonist Hunt and anyone who has a talent for sketching is welcome to submit his or her handiwork to the Collegian office. Personal recognition will be accorded to all those who have their cartoons or sketches printed in the Center's newspaper. Personal satisfaction of seeing your cartoons in print giving laughs to others, as well as yourself, really is the biggest dividend of all. Your cooperation will help make your paper a success and a source of inspiration to all who read it.

Inquiring Reporter

By GEORGE DEMSHOCK

This year the student body at the HUC is the largest ever. As Mr. Goss stated in his introductory remarks during registration week HUC was established here as a convenience to those who wanted to attend college and be free of the room and board expenses which are accrued when studying at an outlying college.

When asked why the HUC was chosen as their school of learning, a variety of answers was given.

QUESTION: Why did you choose to attend the HUC?

Charles F. Andrews—(ex-G.I.)—"I find that my commuting from Weatherly every day is less expensive than if I were to attend a school a greater distance from home."

Michael D. DeNoia—(ex-G.I.)—"When I decided to start school, I wanted to be near home. HUC, being the best school in this region, solved this problem for me."

Aaron W. Deitch — "HUC was highly recommended to me as a school that would furnish an excellent education, yet, still be in a position to be close to home."

Mary Claypotch—"Several friends of mine, who once attended HUC and are now at the Campus recommended this college to me, and at the same time, I have the opportunity to be at home."

Joseph H. DeSantis—(ex-G.I.)—"The fact that HUC is rated very high scholastically, and secondly, that living conditions around here are less expensive than if you were to attend a college elsewhere."

Faculty Chatter

By NAOMI GOSS

Have you heard the story about the peacock? No? It's a beautiful tale. Then there's the tale of Miss Thomas' fire drill — each student is requested to take a microscope in one hand and his textbook in the other—thus they will be able to set up business anywhere with no time lost.

Are you planning a siesta trip to New Mexico? If you are—be sure to visit the newly established HUC Traveler's Bureau. Jimmy Steel is the new proprietor—In spite of blue books, and eight o'clocks, some of your faculty have found time to "make the news" in various community affairs. Amos A. Goss, Administrative Head, took over his duties as the new President of the Conyngham P.T.A. on October 27th. Miss Dossenbach served as chairman of the hospitality committee for the October meeting of the American Association of University Women. The Misses Erlemann, Leichty and Wood were guests at the same meeting.

"Miss B" of the office force became Mrs. Bernard Levash on October 25. The wedding took place in the Transfiguration Church of West Hazleton, followed by a wedding dinner and reception at Lamina's. Mrs. Carmen Hersker, wife of local Attorney John Hersker, and a special student in German at HUC, is recuperating at her home from an attack of virus pneumonia.

Special orchids should go to Arthur Carpenter, Amos Goss, Melvine Levine, Joe Pavone, Sydney Rudman and Arthur Seibel for the beautiful float representing PENN STATE IN HAZLETON in the recent mums parade—and another orchid to the students who assisted in the arrangements and in the actual construction—and still another to those who were willing to participate in the showing.

Mrs. Hazelton and Miss Erlemann journeyed to Jeffersonville, N. Y., to spend the week end at the farm of the latter's parents — Mr. Mattern, Mr. Goss and Yours Truly were among the twenty-two thousand spectators at the Penn State-West Virginia football game. Distinguished guests at the Center this past week included David B. Pugh, Supervisor of the Penn State Undergraduate Centers, Dr. B. V. Moore, Head of the Psychology Department at Penn State, and Mr. T. J. Gates, Head of the Department of English Composition.

And as Porky Pig says, "That's all, folks—there ain't no more".

Blue Books at HUC Do Not Necessarily Determine Grades

The Blue Book Examinations do not necessarily determine the fourth week grade. It was stated to this reporter from an authoritative source that the Blue Books, hour quizzes, will have no connection with fourth week marks, except where the individual teacher wills it. The grades made in these quizzes are to be used for the teacher's personal records.