

ELECTIONS WILL TAKE PLACE NEXT WEEK

4 Sophs Working For Main Job

The Sophomore presidential campaign swings into its stretch drive in what appears to be a "free-for-all" contest. Four strong political groups continue to maintain active campaigns. Here are thumbnail sketches of the four presidential candidates.

Leading a determined Independent party is Stan Sitoski, a neighboring Beaver Meadows student. Stan, a leader in several college groups, is an advocate of good student administration.

With the aid of the student body, Sitoski intends to co-ordinate student council and activities council programs. He intends to campaign for the immediate expansion of student activities. All this is to be embraced by a better student government.

Robert Rinkus stands out as the choice of the Engineering party. This military veteran is certain to be a favorite candidate of the Broad street students. His popularity has reached to the Walnut street building since he started at HUC.

Bob intends to work for co-operation in expanding the sports program to take in more students. He favors more minor sports to accomplish this. Rinkus solicits student support with his first concern being for his fellow students.

Supported by a progressively-minded Student party, Anthony Stanzola presents himself as candidate for the Sophomore main job. He is a determined believer in the free expression of opinion and favors frank, open discussion.

Never having been one to take a "back seat" position on any issue, Stanzola plans to wage a full-scale campaign with the desire to give all students the maximum of representation.

The Good Government party, seeking only to accomplish what its name implies, selected Michael Doddo as its standard bearer. Mike, who is from the Heights, is eager to assure the students he will do everything possible to bring the year to conclusion with a record of good service.

This well-known candidate has been interested in student problems and school activities since he enrolled at the college. His Good Government party has pledged to support him in the campaign to move into the presidential position.

The man who has not anything to boast of but his illustrious ancestors is like a potato—the only good belonging to him is underground.

Student Parties Formed For Race

Official election of HUC class officers has been set for Monday with petitions of four sophomore and three freshman presidential candidates thus far completed.

With no less furor than the national campaign for president, the opposing candidates have divided the student body into various battle camps.

In the Freshman class issues are split between the two factions, the Independent party supporting John Wersinger, and the Nittany Frosh, led by Donald Kump. The Sophomore class is rapidly siding with one of four separate parties: the Student, Good Government, Independent, or Engineers, led by John Stanzola, Mike Doddo, Stan Sitoski, and Bob Rinkus respectively.

According to the Constitution, elections are to take place approximately two weeks after the start of the semester. Students who desire to run for office are able to obtain petitions in the main office. The petitions must be signed by twenty members of the candidate's class, but no one may sign more than two petitions.

Government Set-up

Three main organizations make up the student government: (1.) College Council, (2.) Student-Faculty board, and (3.) Activities board.

The College Council is composed of nine members, four students from each class (a president and three elected members) and a faculty member appointed by the administrative head. At least one member from both classes must be elected from the women.

The Student-Faculty board consists of three faculty members, one the administrative head, and the presidents of the two classes.

The Activities board consists of a faculty member appointed by the administrative head and one representative from each club and activity to be elected by that club or activity.

Women Organize For Semester

In the form of a skirt and sweater party Friday night, the Women's Activities Organization held its first meeting with almost perfect attendance of both classes. Both Mrs. Amos Goss and Miss Florence Yannes, assistant women's advisor, were present.

After the machinery of the new organization which replaces the girl's sorority was explained officers were elected:

- President—Millie Mackov.
- Vice-president—Millie Romanell.
- Treasurer—June Reinmiller.
- Secretary—Mary Lou Pollock.

Under the new setup, it was decided all women would be members of the organization, that the various activities such as swimming, basketball, cheerleading, and bowling would be established by it and come under its rules and regulations.

NEED RECORDS

The college dancing club has issued an appeal for students to contribute records for use during its meetings. Each record is to be tagged with the name of the student. The records are to be returned.

Advisor Syd Rudman stated that records of fox trots, waltzes and moderate to fast jitterbug tunes are needed. These platters should be turned in to Rudman at the main faculty room at Walnut street or brought to the club's meeting this afternoon.

Frosh Candidates For President

In a fast-moving Freshman election campaign, the battle for control appears to be between the forces of the "Independents" led by John Wersinger, and those of the "Nittany Frosh," headed by Donald Kump.

Wersinger, a hard-working chemistry major, appears on the political scene as a veteran campaigner and office holder. Through the years he has maintained the position that honest administration backed by an ever increasing desire for better co-operation between student and faculty is the only way to improve any educational set-up.

In a recent statement Wersinger asked "for the complete co-operation and whole-hearted support of the Freshman class in this campaign."

Don Kump, an alert young man from Berwick, looks for support from a vast circle of friends throughout the school. His genuine desire to aid in the attempts presently underway to improve student facilities is known and appreciated by everyone associated with him. Kump has urged that "each and every Frosh join with him in making the school year one of the best."

The last Freshman candidate to break into the scene has been Al Bauer representing the Frosh Engineering party. Even though this group was late in entering the field, it has already mustered a large following.

Bauer is a veteran in his first semester in college. He has been placed in the field by the Freshmen who make their headquarters at Broad street and has expressed an intent to run a Freshman administration for the students from both buildings.

MATH CLUB WILL MEET THIS EVENING

The HUC Math Club will be reorganized tonight at seven o'clock in the Walnut street building, Room 2. The instructors in the math department are advisors.

The club is open to all students taking math. The first meeting is to be devoted to the election of officers and the planning of a program to fill out this semester. The club was active during the 1947 fall semester but failed to re-form after the spring schedule got underway.

Hobson Zerbe, one of the advisors, stated that meetings would be planned along lines asked for by the members. Last year lectures were presented on the slide rule, factoring, and lives of great math men.
