

YOU PAID! NOW VOTE FOR GOOD MANAGEMENT

Every student in the Hazleton Undergraduate Center has invested $7.50 in the activities program here for this semester. Veterans, for the first time, have been required to pay this fee, according to the most recent dictates of the Veterans' Administration.

The usual question has been expressed many times already: "Where Does This Money Go?" and "Who Manages These Funds?"

Where the money will go and who will manage it will be answered next week when more than 400 HUC students vote for their class officers. The money has been paid and now the students deserve the answers — which they themselves must supply through their ballots.

The important post, and for which there are several candidates, is that of Sophomore class president. This person will head the Student Council, the guiding light for everything. From this post, and its auxiliary posts, will originate the final action for—or against—the best interests of all concerned at Penn State's branch in Hazleton.

This undergraduate center hit a new high in activities and progress last year. Most of the leaders who watched over the purse strings and the programs are gone from these halls. The students, in all fairness to themselves, must replace these people with competent officials to carry on!

The key officials must echo student opinion and yet dare not succumb to fly-by-night ideas of a few. Everybody has purchased an interest in this year's program and everyone should receive the dividend due him.

Next week when the final tally has been taken the students will know whether they have won their rights to a bigger and better year—and it will have to be good to rank above the record set last year—or whether they have sabotaged their own chances to a memorable part of their college lives.

The main officers, once elected, will be the trademarks of this college. When visiting groups come here, the officials will be called upon to act as hosts, conduct meetings and build up co-operation between this school and other state institutions. The students of this school should have the best to do the best.

International Relations Club Meets Wednesday

"The Berlin Crisis" is expected to be the topic of discussion when the International Relations Club holds its third meeting next Wednesday at noon in room W-17. An invitation is issued to HUC students and faculty members to take part in the IRC's round-table confabs.

No officers have been elected and the group is making an early bid for new members before officials will be chosen. Adviser Dr. Hazel Ramsey pointed out that Freshmen especially are invited to take part in the activities so a group of club leaders can be developed for next year.

The club has been organized again this year as a panel group on world affairs for students here. The forum meetings are held during the noon hour and members are invited to bring their lunches.

Outstanding topics developed last year included "The Marshall Plan," "The Communist Coup in Czechoslovakia," "Universal Military Training," and "The Trieste Issue." A constant review of UN activities is maintained.

Bob Timlin Pres. Of Drama Club

Bob Timlin has been chosen president of the Penn State Players, this school's thespian group. Miss Margaret Campbell is adviser.

Other officers are: Michael Buggy, vice president; Joyce Schofield, secretary; Dolores McGee, treasurer.

The players will make their first appearance before the student body November 19 when they will stage a skit during a dance intermission. The committee arranging for the production is made up of Nick Cabello, Joe Skiptosky, Niel Lewellyn, Dolores Kolisick, Eleanor Wagner and Beverly Silverman.

Other activities on the club program for the semester are the production of three act plays, several WAZL radio shows, theater parties, trips to the campus to see stage productions, and attending one of Marian Brown's readings.

Lee: I'm a self-made man.
Barney: That's what comes from hiring cheap labor.

THOUGHTS IN THE BREEZE

Welcome to all incoming freshmen, returning students and new members of the faculty, Ida C. Gojne, Gilbert H. Ward, to Florence N. Yannes, the first nurse at HUC, and to Sgts. Bruney and Flaherty.

Syd Rudman's dancing club, the first of its kind at the center, has a large membership of enthused novices. Just to speed things up, does anyone know what became of the large broom at the Get Acquainted Dance?

Irene Smith, former member of Student Council who transferred to Wilkes, recently visited her hometown with a very cute friend, Irene Wang from China.

Hobson Zerbe's geology classes were on a field trip to nearby Cranberry and wish to disprove any accusations that they have rocks in their heads — it's names of rocks! The geology classes are planning a trip to Crystal Cave October 26.

Good luck to State grad, Ted Alex, who landed a part-time job as announcer at the local radio station, WAZL.

From down under comes another request for students to turn off the radio when no one is listening. Remember also, smoking is prohibited in the main corridor, the classrooms, and the library. It is permitted in the basement.

Along with the new additions in the building this fall is the automatic candy machine. This is the third machine installed for the convenience of the student body.

Bet you never knew five of the freshman coeds are majors in physical education.

Watch for it! Starting next week a gripe box is going to be placed in the main corridor for students to submit pet gripes and suggestions. The most important and sincere gripes will be published in the Collegian's next issue. Gripping is open to all students.

HUC PUPPETEERS PART OF CITY TALENT SHOW

The French department's Puppeteers will stage a fifteen minute miniature stage show as part of the "Hazleton Talent on Parade" show in the Hazleton High School auditorium November 13.

The show is being sponsored by the organizations of the Beth Israel Temple, Church and Hemlock sts., for the benefit of the congregation's building program. A two-story addition is being built to the present temple.

Other city talent groups will take part in the show which starts at 8 o'clock. Syd Rudman is handling tickets for the show and he may be found in the main office at Walnut street.

"Come back, Nodnick," cried Mrs. Pffnick to her little boy as he fell out of the balcony. "Orchestra seats are a dollar more."

Start Of Cage Season At HUC

Coach Syd Rudman held the first basketball practice of the 1948-1949 season in the A. D. Thomas gymnasium Monday night. He was greeted by 35 eager candidates for the varsity and junior varsity teams.

Four veteran cagers have returned to HUC. They are Pete Garber, Steve Talerovich, Jim Munroe and Brice Martin. It is around these veterans that Rudman plans to rebuild his junior college champions.

The candidates went through preliminary warmups and were coached in the fundamentals of zone offense and defense. The initial practice closed with a scrimmage to judge the new candidates.

Rudman stated there is some fine material in the group but there are still quite a few rough spots to be smoothed out before the team can take the floor for the season.

The tentative schedule:

November 24, Alumni (H).

December — 4, Pottsville (A); 8, Hershey Junior College (A); 10, Altoona (A); 11, DuBois (A); 15, Harrisburg (H) pending; 17, open.

January—7, open; 8, DuBois (H); 12, York Junior College (H); 15, Keystone Junior College (H); 19, Swarthmore (A).

February—9, Harrisburg (H); 11, Swarthmore (H); 16, Keystone College (A); 18, Altoona (H); 23, Pottsville (H); 26, York Junior College (A).

March—2, open; 4, open.

STATE CHORUS HERE IS AGAIN ORGANIZED

The Penn State Community Chorus has been reorganized for the year. Miss Pearl Garbrick, school music head, is director. The group meets Tuesday evening.

Sessions start at seven o'clock and all types of music are being used. At the present time the organization is planning a program to be staged sometime in November.

The rolls of the musical group include many members from last year's chorus. The members are from towns surrounding the city as well as from Hazleton.

DANCING CLUB LESSONS EVERY THURSDAY EVE

The junior college's 1948-49 dancing club has been organized and will hold its second meeting this afternoon in the Hazleton YMCA's Pardee Hall. The meeting will get underway at four o'clock.

The group is being directed by Syd Rudman and lessons in primary dancing steps are to be given until 5:30 o'clock.

Rudman pointed out the purpose of the club is to teach more college students, "boys especially," to dance. The membership rolls are still open.

Speccr is the index of the mind.
