The official organization of council was completed when Joyce Schofield was elected secretary and Art Edstrom was chosen treasurer.

The new members of council, elected two weeks ago by the student body, took an active part in the business brought up at the meeting. Margaret Campbell is adviser for the group.

SERGEANT FLAHERTY SEEKS APARTMENT

1st Sgt. Joseph Flaherty, one of the new instructors of the local ROTC training course, is faced with a common and very critical problem. The sergeant, a native of Kingston, has found it practically impossible to secure a suitable apartment for his wife and child. The exhibit is to arrive here sometime during the week of November 8 and will be set up in the art room, room W-3 at Walnut street.

Voting Releases Sanctioned By College For Tues.

With an estimate by nationally-known opinion polls that more people than ever before will be taking part in the national elections tomorrow the Pennsylvania State College has issued a statement that students of eligible age and who are registered may be excused to vote.

The high enrollment of veteran students who are of the age to cast a ballot has made this move necessary. It has been pointed out, however, that this accommodation on the part of the administration is not to be used as a "loop-hole" to get free from classes.

Teachers have been notified to pass this word on to their students in the various classes. It is not believed, however, that too many Hazleton Undergraduate Center students will need to be free from classes since few students live very far from the college.

Polling places will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning to 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Students X-Rayed For TB Friday

The mobilized photographic unit, which is part of the Pennsylvania mass x-ray program, was available Friday to HUC students at City Hall. The students of the center were given a chance to be x-rayed for tuberculosis, according to a time schedule set up by the administrative head.

These free examinations were made possible through the cooperation of the Middle Valley Tuberculosis Society and they were under the direction of Syd Rudman, center activities head.

These examinations are being sponsored on a region-wide basis and entire communities are being examined at the present time.

In this way the T-B preventative society is hoping to cut the possibilities for the spread of the disease.

WOMEN'S HALLOWE'EN PARTY FRIDAY NIGHT

Friday night at nine o'clock the Women's Organization held a Halloween party in the Pardee Hall at the Y.M.C.A. Attendance was restricted to the women and their guests. Plans included dancing, Halloween and other novel games, and refreshments were served.

There was no costuming. However, decorations did, along with the different games, provide an autumn atmosphere.

N. L. Teams Discussed By Baseball Pros

When Danny Lithwiler's All Stars played in Bloomsburg prior to appearing at Cranberry Park October 24, a Bloomsburg State Teachers College sportswriter queried the team members on their opinions of National League teams this year. The ensuing story gives an insight into a player's idea of the national pastime.

Ron Northey and Billy Cox may think the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers, respectively, were the best teams in the National League this past season, but Vern Bickford, sensational rookie pitcher, has proof that his Braves were the pick of the crop.

"Sure," said Bickford in response to Ron Northey's assertion last week that all the clubs were as strong as ever, "we're all good, but the Braves led the league in hitting; we led the league in fielding, and we had the best pitching record. How can you beat that?"

"Cleveland," said Vern, "is a good, sound ball club with a great
