

More Plans Made At Meeting Of HUC Drama Club

The Dramatics Club swung into action at its last meeting with Pres. Bob Timlin in charge. Hank Ziegler was elected representative for the Activities Board.

Beverly Silverman was chosen program chairlady for the year with the following committee: Eddie Bell, A. John Arrufflo, Joyce Schofield and Hank Ziegler.

Present activities of the club are rehearsals for a radio skit that will be given in the near future and the preparation of a 10 minute skit to be presented during intermission of the dance November 19.

Plans are underway for one three-act play and a number of one-act plays to be given for the first time by H.U.C. students in arena style under the direction of Miss Margaret Campbell, the club's adviser.

In the near future Arthur Cloetingh, dramatic coach at the campus, will attend one of H.U.C.'s meetings.

Meetings will now be held the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month at seven o'clock.

A Scot was engaged in an argument with a conductor as to whether the fare was 25 or 30 cents. Finally, the disgusted conductor picked up the Scot's suitcase and tossed it off the train just as they passed over a bridge.

"Mon," screamed the Scot, "It isn't enough to try to overcharge me, but now you try to drown my little boy!"

N. L. Teams Discussed By Baseball Pros manager, who very definitely is the greatest shortstop in the business."

Asked what he thought of Bobby Feller, Bickford replied that Feller was not as fast as he had been represented, but did throw a curve ball that he, Bickford, considered the best he had ever seen thrown.

Bickford surprised himself by going into his first World Series contest feeling as if he were just going to pitch an ordinary ball game. For some reason, other than nervousness, he lacked his usual control and was unusually wild during his tenure on the hill.

Bickford, who came up to the Braves this season from Milwaukee to become one of the outstanding pitchers, in the National League, exhibited a baseball acumen rarely found in pitchers as he analyzed the Braves from the big chief down to the little papoose batboy.

He said he couldn't disagree with any newspaper stories describing Manager Billy Southworth's attributes as either a manager or a man, except that he is probably even a greater man than he has been credited with being.

Bickford could find no fault with

CLUB FORMED TO "IRON OUT" MATH WORRIES

A Math club has been formed to bring a closer relationship between students and mathematics. The main objective of the club is to help students iron out their math difficulties.

Programs will be arranged according to the types of problem that are difficult for any member.

Meetings are held every Tuesday at three o'clock in the Walnut Street building in room 2. Hobson Zerbe is the adviser.

George Sarkis Heads Spanish Organization

Members of the Spanish club have elected George Sarkis president, John Fluir vice-president, and Robert Knapp secretary-treasurer. Representative for the Student Activities Board is Edward Nowak.

Meetings are held on the second and the fourth Monday of each month. Plans are being made for the next meeting and all members are asked to attend.

COLLEGIAN STAFF TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON

There will be another meeting of the Hazleton Collegian staff this afternoon at four o'clock. The meeting will be held in room 13 in the Walnut street building.

All members of the newspaper's staff are urged to attend this session in order to plan for the November 12 edition of the Collegian.

shortstop Alvin Dark who according to him, will eventually blossom into one of the best ever. Elliot is a good third baseman, but he could not say whether he rated an award as the most valuable player in the league.

Asked if he had any preference for a battery mate, Bickford unhesitatingly chose Phil Masi. Masi, he said, is as good, if not better, on defense, than Walker Cooper of the Giants.

Bickford also expresses the opinion that Curt Simmons, the Phils' big bonus pitcher, would eventually become a standout in the league because of the poise and confidence which he has in addition to the great natural ability he possesses.

He did think, though, that Simmons would have been better prepared for the big time if he could have been kept in the minors a bit longer. Bill McCahan of the A's, who had been sitting quietly during this discourse (an unusual occurrence for him) broke into the conversation here to add his concurrence to Bickford's opinion.

Cox Prefers "The Bums"

Billy Cox, rated among the best infielders in baseball, would rather play ball for Brooklyn, under Shotton, but would like to play every day. He expressed a violent dislike for his former manager, Leo Durocher, and knows the Dodgers could

FASHION FLASHBACKS

A glance in the direction of the smartly dressed co-ed reveals that flared skirts are still in the swing of things with a wide array of chic accessories to lead the ooh's and ah's section.

One of the most colorful "must" additives are the stoles displayed in bold colors and Scotch plaids. A tip to the girl with the know-how stoles can easily be made from old plaid skirts. Fraying the edges is done by ripping the edges and cutting them off even.

For girls who desire a belt to belittle the waistline, the dog leash belt is just the ticket for promenading, with or without Rover.

Gaiters have been heard of but so far not seen in this section of the country. The same goes for sleeve holders, very attractive on Gibson Girl blouses. Sleeve holders are made usually of satin ribbon and fastened by a glass button.

PUPPETS MADE BY ART DEPARTMENT

The college's art department students have completed a set of five puppets for the French club's puppet show to be presented November 13 in the Hazleton High School auditorium.

The students who worked on the miniatures are Anna Spaide, John Torsella, and Paul Super. The work has been done under the direction of Mr. Carpenter.

have won the pennant easily by ten games if Shotton had been manager from the start of the season. Carl Furillo backs Cox up on this sentiment.

Cox was emphatic in his declaration that Marty Marion is no longer as great a shortstop as he once was.

"Brooklyn? No, the Cards."

"The Cardinals were the best team in the National League," maintains Ron Northey, power-hitting outfielder, "but we just didn't get the breaks. Kurowski and Schoendienst, along with some of our pitchers, were out most of the season with injuries and we still finished close."

Northey denied that the Cards were too old and backs up the statement by quoting statistics that show he is right.

Simmons Likes The Majors

Curt Simmons, the Phillies' youthful fireball artist, thinks that being allowed to pitch regularly in the National League has done him more good than harm, even if he didn't have an impressive record for the past season. "We have to come up some time," he reasons, "Why not now?"

None of his teammates resent the bonus given him, but do kid him unmercifully about it. They were all friendly and willing to assist him,

KATHY KO-ED'S KORNER

Quilted skirts, velveteen and corduroy suits, saddle purses, argyle socks, and gingham blouses are definitely here for a while. Feminine fashion trends all seem to point to "the kind grandma used to make."

Do you like the long dresses the women are wearing these days?

It doesn't bother me. I have a good memory.

Kathy says: Any woman knows the way to a man's heart is his stomach, but it's a smart woman who can feed him anything.

Congratulations and the best of luck to the women who have been elected to represent their set in the Student Council; freshmen Joyce Schofield and Cissy McGee, and Mary Ellen McHugh of the sophomore class. They deserve the support of every woman student; every woman deserves their attention.

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY COLLEGE DANCE CLUB

The newly organized dance club meets every Thursday at 4 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. under the leadership of Syd Rudman.

At the last meeting Sarah Gensel was elected president and Dolores Lee secretary-treasurer.

Anyone who is willing to loan records to the club is asked to contact Syd Rudman as soon as possible.

New members are always welcome.

but Dutch Leonard, his roommate, probably was the greatest help. He quotes Leonard as saying the hitters in one league are just as dangerous as in the other.

Simmons said he was a bit nervous in his first major league test against the Giants, but not because of the crowd. He doesn't recall being awed when he faced Johnny Mize for the first time.

He would express no opinions concerning the change of managers, but considered both Ben Chapman and Eddie Sawyer to be smart baseball men though they are two entirely different personalities. One catcher is as good as another, he thinks, and shows no preference for a receiver.

Ennis Had Great Year

Del Ennis, who had the greatest year of his career, can explain his success to nothing more than the fact that "it was just one of those years when everything went right."

He wouldn't comment on the change of managers but thought that the loss of Emil Verban would weaken the club considerably. However, he thought that in a few years the newcomers would develop into an outstanding infield combination.

Today is yesterday's pupil.
