

68 TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR TRANSFER

Kostos Explains Probation Status

Students who fail in more than 35 percent and less than 50 percent of scheduled credits at the end of the semester are placed on probation by the college for the subsequent semester. The registrar shall notify any such person, and such action shall be entered upon the official record of the student. Notification shall also be given to the parents of the student.

The above regulation is one of a group on delinquent scholarship found in the handbook which was given to incoming freshmen last fall.

Frank Kostos, assistant administrative head, urges all students to be familiar with this section concerning grades.

A few of the most important articles which some students with low grades in particular should know before it is too late to do anything about it are listed on pages 23 and 24 of the handbook.

Rule 50. A student whose scholastic average at the end of any semester except the first semester of the freshman year, falls to or below .5 shall be dismissed from college for unsatisfactory scholarship and shall be notified to this effect by the registrar. For students entering from cooperating colleges this rule shall become operative at the end of the first semester of the sophomore year.

Rule 60. A student whose scholastic average is more than .5 and not more than .65 at the end of any semester shall be placed on probation (Continued on page 2)

Evening Classes Start February 7

Evening classes will start at the Hazleton Center February 7. The spare-time program is being directed this semester by H. Leland Whitfield, center staff member and district director of the college's extension organization.

68 students are leaving the Center this February to transfer to the campus or other colleges to continue their studies.

William S. Hoffman, Dean of Admissions, announced that registration days for transferring students will be February 3, 4 and 5. It will be to their advantage to arrive on the campus not later than the morning of February 3. This is because schedules will be made up after many sections have already been filled and it may take some time to arrange schedules. Official ticket of entry will be their $25 receipt indicating payment of the transfer.

A limited number of freshmen are being admitted for the spring semester at the Center. With the exception of a few students who found it necessary to discontinue attending classes until February there are now fourteen who have been admitted or who have applications under consideration.

Surveys reported by the main campus show that there will be less room available in private homes in State College at the start of the spring semester.

The majority of male students transferring have placed requests for rooms in the Nittany dorms and along with the facilities in Pollock Circle, college officials forecast that all demands will be satisfied.

COLLEGE ATMOSPHERE, COMFORT, LARGER STAFF AT NEW CENTER

The much talked about "college atmosphere" is becoming a reality. With the purchase of the Markle Estate for the new center there will be plenty of "college atmosphere." It is the goal of the staff of Penn State College is to make the center as much like college life on a campus as possible.

The "Big House" will be the center of activity at the "Highacres" estate. The living room is being converted into a combination library and lounge equipped with lounge chairs and floor lamps for as much comfort as possible. The present library of the Markles will remain as such joining the living room and the porch. The porch will be closed in and big picture windows will be installed giving excellent views of the valley. There will be a cafeteria and lounge in the basement. Class rooms will occupy the second and third floors. The green house will serve as chemistry and botany and zoology labs.

Larger Staff

Plans are not complete as to what will be done with the cottage and garage. It is felt that the present buildings will be sufficient to handle the needs of the center. The staff and enrollment will be enlarged in September.

C. W. Stoddart, Jr., Director of Physical Education Extension, and N. Theil of the Department of Physical Education visited the center recently to make plans for an extensive Physical Education Department. Plans for a gym with a capacity of 2,000 that will also house the ROTC armory were discussed.

Transportation plans are being made to accommodate commuting students, and eventually dormitories will be erected for boarders.

Conversion is to start on the laboratories March 1, 1949, at the new center.

UNDERTONES IN HALLS

Students who attended classes in the basement are often disturbed and distracted by the amount of noise in the halls and on the stairs. Some students are so boisterous that their entire conversations can be heard in the classrooms. Undertones can be more annoying than actual shouting.

SUPERVISOR HERE

Mr. Lorin Edder, supervisor of the Safety Committee from the campus, visited the center on Tuesday, Jan. 11, to confer with the Safety Committee who are: Miss Mae Fauth, Miss Mary Wood and Mr. Ralph Kreckler.

COUNCIL CHANGE

When the new semester begins, Syd Rudman will be taking over the position of sponsor of the College Student Council. Miss Margaret Campbell, who is now faculty adviser to the student group, has relinquished her position to be able to give more time to the college dramatics club.

Jesters To Cast Three Act Play

Shortly after Easter the Jesters plan to put off Noel Coward's three-act comedy, "Hay Fever." However, there will be no tryouts until next semester. The books have been placed on reserve in the library for those members planning to participate.

The Jesters have scheduled for February to take part in the program to be presented on the 17th by the AAUW, Penn State Night. Also the Jesters will have charge of the monthly radio show over WAZL.

Several members are visiting the campus this Saturday to take in one or two plays, one of which Danny Wargo, former student, has a part. Arrangements were made by Hank Zeigler.

HAS MUSICAL PROGRAM

January 12 at 10:30 p. m. over WAZL, Serenade from the Pens of the Masters was again presented by Miss Pearl Garbrick with interpretive notes.
