

Set Up System To Award Keys

During the meeting of Council on April 4 the subject of awards for convocation was discussed. Keys are to be awarded only to those activities which are all-college activities on a competitive basis. A committee consisting of freshmen members of Council was also appointed to present a report on previous frosh customs of the Center. It will be presented at the next regular meeting on April 8.

At the meeting held on March 28 the Council officially installed the three new members. The Amateur Egyptologist Society (Mummy club) was allotted funds to purchase materials necessary for launching the organization. Mr. Steel, club adviser, and Anthony Stanziola, Activities Board representative, were extended the Council's wishes for a prosperous and functional organization.

Name Committees For Convocation

Last week class presidents Bill Baran and John Wersinger appointed student committees to work on arrangements for the Second Honors Convocation to be held May 27 at 8 p.m.

The sophomore committee headed by Baran consists of Mary Claypotch, Melania Maczkov and Larry Nicholson. The freshman committee is composed of President Wersinger, J. McNally, A. Snyder, L. May and E. Scicchitano.

These students will assist the faculty committee in working out the details of the Convocation at which Mr. Melchior of Girard College will speak.

MAKING LOGIC LOGICAL

In one of Mrs. Hazleton's philosophy classes, this question was thrust at the critical thinkers:

If a clock takes three seconds to strike six, how long will it take to strike twelve?

A few of the faster thinkers who had looked at the answer in the back of the text replied, "6 3/5 seconds, allowance being made for the actual chimes."

All well and good. "But," objected Victor Marchetti, "How long will it take to strike twelve? Why, six hours."

Collegian Meeting

There will be an important meeting of the Collegian Thursday, April 21. At this time plans will be made for an extra edition Friday, April 29. All staff members are required to be present whether or not they already have an assignment.

Willie: Did Edison make the first talking machine, Pa?

Pa: No, son. God made the first one. Edison made the first one that could be shut off.

Lowdown In The Library

By JOAN EIDLEMAN

Crash! goes the potted plant; bang! goes mother's best china; whiz-z-z go a tiny pair of feet by. Thus goes the routine of Junior's day. Whether or not you are aware of the ever-present problem of bringing up the "mean wittle kid," it is a question that will always provoke even the best psychologist.

You Centerites will at some time or other become mothers and fathers (if you aren't already). Consequently, you should take avid interest in proper child care and development. You need only spare a few minutes from your limited leisure time to commence mastering the problem by reading The First Five Years of Life by Arnold Gesell, M.D., who has uniquely presented the significant problems of the pre-school child and their solutions.

Among the limited alternatives The Intelligence of Infants by Psyche Cattell might be consulted; the author delves into the observations and results from psychometric examinations of children.

Then again, you might say to yourself, "Why be so concerned with the future?" For those of you who don't cross your bridges until you come to them, that crash-crack, crush, wang-bang-clang noise may now only extend to your neighbor's or your own phonograph and radio. Why not go beyond these mere front-pieces and elucidate the mystery? Of course, read Our American Music by John Lasker Howard who presents an informative survey of the entire subject of American music from the old ballads to boogie. The Record Book by David Hall, the new international edition, might also be consulted. It is the most comprehensive guide available to all fine recorded music. In it the domestic and foreign recorded music of 780 composers is evaluated by one of the foremost authorities in the field.

Yet, whatever music might interest you, there is that which is all-satisfying, the spring music of Easter vacation!

GERMAN

The German Club will participate at the Language Festival in May by presenting a puppet play, Kasper in Bedraignes. The members who will take part are: George Scheers, the director; John McNally, the devil and the judge; Hugh Zilkoski, policeman; Ed Scicchitano and Jean McGrory, helping with the puppet dressing and make-up. Dean Underwood and Robert Yore will work the puppets.

ANSWER TO MR. WHO

Mr. James Steel, adviser of the Mummy club.

Fashion Fatigue

Men who have lived through the sinking of ships... are scared to death by fashion's padded hips... men who for months have lived on K-rations... lose their appetites over some of the fashions... and those who have weathered the Siegfried line... are slain in the battle of the hemline...

The current mode is designed to intrigue... but it often succeeds in causing battle-fatigue... Sometimes what a lady will wear... makes you want to tear out your hair... but to ladies it seems worthwhile... as long as it's decreed by style...

Waistlines at... necklines... waistlines at hielines... they are emotional barometers... registering at the current times... years are spent and fortunes, too... to make stylish creations for me and you...

The poor designers have such a time, as you can plainly see... but why must they design... the waistline... everywhere but where it should be?

A hem is a hem... and a waist is a waist... who knows where the twain shall meet? Apparently the stylist will not be content... until they both meet at the feet...

A big fat ruffle here or a drape-shape there... a rustling feather or a swoosh of horse-hair... makes a man stop and stare—but stare!... as he thinks to himself, "Who goes there?"

Style is a continuous comic... style is a year-round tonic. It can be exceedingly flattering; it can be very funny... it can be very inexpensive or it can run into money...

The hobo in his array of patches looks through a fashion magazine, and his head he scratches... says he, "Well, I do declare... if this is what the college girls wear... their outfits with my outfit matches!"

Style... beguiles... it enchants awhile... and then ends up in a junk pile... Buckles, bustles and long underwear, hobble-skirts and those that flare... all have burned a bright arc in the sky... only to meet in a junk heap to die...

But... Lives there a lady... with soul so dead... that the latest fashions... do not go to her head?

And... Lives there a man... so ready to die... that a stylish lassie... does not catch his eye?

Campus and Alumni News

the advantages of Temple. "A.W." spent this week-end preparing a return missile to re-educate his lost brother. Says Al, "He's married and not responsible for what he thinks."

A big four-day celebration honoring the Pan-American countries has been conducted this week on the campus. Special programs and decorations in front of Old Main have been part of the observance. Frank Lucia, last year's Student Council prexy, was on the planning committee.

And the girls will be gushing to learn that the finishing touches are being put on tremendous McElwain Hall, one of the new dorms here. Trees have been planted and shrubbery placed about the grounds. Even floor lamps have been placed. If not next fall, at least in thirty years from now the new trees will make beautiful strolling — for some proud State alumni when their grandchildren graduate.
