

AAUW and Rotary Offer Loan Funds

During the past several years a number of scholarship loan and emergency funds have been available to regional college students. It has been noted that applications for these various funds have been few not because their assistance could not have been useful, but because most of the regional students have not been informed as to the opportunities and assistance they can derive from the generosity of local organizations.

At present a great amount of college enrollments is comprised of war veterans whose education is paid by the government. When the G.I. Bill terminates for many veterans, outside assistance may be required to help them in completing the last years of their educations. For this reason it would prove useful to those confronted with this problem or other similar ones to keep in mind these various organizations.

Rotary Loan

The local Rotary Loan Fund, headed by Bruce Lamont, has been advantageous to local college students who met with emergencies during their last year of school. Application for the benefits of this fund is available to any senior who has met with a problem serious enough to hinder completion of his courses. Applications are considered by the board of directors of Rotary.

AAUW Aid

The regional branch of the AAUW, whose present scholarship chairman is Mrs. Martin Corrigan, offers opportunities to local girls whose financial difficulties have impeded their education. The main objective of this fund is to increase the number of women graduates throughout the region. This scholar-

Col. A. S. Peterson Inspects ROTC

Yesterday the Center's Reserve Officers Training Corps was inspected for the first time this semester by Colonel A. S. Peterson, head of Lafayette College Military Unit at Easton. The inspection was conducted under the supervision of Sergeants Joseph Flarety and Vincent Gordon, local unit instructors. Colonel Peterson in his tour placed special emphasis on classroom procedures and the general military appearance of the group.

Throughout the inspection day all members of the unit were required to attend their classes in full dress uniform. Their smart tailored appearance added a great deal of color to the general school scene and was responsible for many favorable comments from both the faculty members and the student body.

Doris Bartol May Queen

Doris Bartol (inset) is shown above being presented with a gardenia corsage by Miss Margaret Wood, Dean of Women, after she had been announced May Queen by Millie Maczkov, President of the Women's Organization.

Queen's Maid Of Honor And Court Announced

Doris Bartol, popular pre-med sophomore, has been selected May Queen to reign over the Fifth Annual Ceremony and Queen's Ball next Friday, May 6. The official announcement of the Queen and court was made during the Engineers' Square Dance which was held April 22 at the YMCA.

Mary Lou Pollock will serve as her Maid of Honor for the coronation. Both of the women were presented with gardenia corsages by Miss Margaret Wood, Dean of Women, after they had been announced by Millie Maczkov, president of the Women's Organization.

The other members of the court are: sophomore attendants, Joan Eidleman and June Reinmiller; freshman attendants, Cissy McGee and Janet Szutowicz; scroll bearer, Peg Kohler; heart bearer, Mary Ellen McHugh; crown bearer, Rita Mikula; and key bearer, Mary Claypotch.

Miss Bartol, who comes from Hazle Brook, was a freshman attendant for the 1948 coronation when Jean Uzmann was Queen.

WOMAN SENATOR COMING TO HAZLETON

The Hazleton Women's Inter-Club Council is presenting on Saturday, May 7, 1949, at 8:30 p.m. in the Hazleton Senior High School auditorium the honorable Margaret Chase Smith, first woman directly elected U.S. Senator. The senator, running against the political machine and against the governor and ex-governor of Maine as candidates, won her election by one of the largest margins in the country.

Admission to seats in the auditorium will be by patron cards, available from Miss Anna Erlemann at one dollar each. This donation will pay the expense of bringing the senator here to Hazleton. Thereafter will be a general admission to the public.

Whether students have the dollar or not, they are invited to meet the senator at the public reception to be held at the Hotel Altamont at 4 p.m. or as near thereafter as her cavalcade (including the high school band) arrives from Avoca.

● Students who have conflicts in their exam schedules should report them to Mr. Frank Kostos before May 7.

As the professor rushed into the new class he pulled out a whip, snapped it over the students' heads several times and shouted: "This is what is known as a snap course."

CENTERITES TO ATTEND READING FESTIVAL

On May 4 and 5 Miss Margaret Campbell, Mrs. Lois Neibert, Joan Eidleman and Conrad Balliet will attend the First Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Reading Festival at State College.

In previous years the colleges that participated in this talent event were Eastern colleges. However, because of this limitation a need was felt to include all Pennsylvanian colleges.

Under the supervision of the Speech Department at the campus, the schedule of events will include the reading of poetry, narration, Shakespearean sonnets, lyric poetry, and plays. Hazleton Center representatives will take part in the two last events.

Speech Students

Hear Decorator

In the ballroom of the Altamont hotel on April 26 at 8 p.m. speech students saw fabrics from France, Italy and United States and learned how to weave various fabrics.

Above all, the speaker, Mr. Dunker, stressed that every room must have balance.

Ahs and ohs were heard when new fabrics of glass which is fireproof, and nylon, which is not affected by the heat of the sun, were shown. The 1949 new look in fabrics is one made of metal.
