Clubs Approach Final Meetings

Chemistry Club

The Chemistry club held its last meeting on Tuesday night at the Broad Street Building. Professor Holtzinger, honored guest from the campus, addressed the club. Two movies were shown and all unfinished business for this semester was taken care of. Refreshments were served. Myron Schmutzer, president of the club, thanked all members for their cooperation during the semester.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club will hold a business meeting on Wednesday at noon. All members are urged to attend. At the last meeting of the Sandwich Cinema Hour the movie, Americans All, was shown. The club is still discussing the North Atlantic Pact.

Mummy Club

The Mummy club held its last meeting of this semester last night at the Broad Street Building. A movie, Father Nile, was shown and slides depicting the opening of the tombs. All members are urged to watch the bulletin board for future announcements which pertain to that club. Although the meetings are over, club activities will still go on.

German Club

The Schnitzelbankverein will hold its last business meeting of the semester on Monday, May 9, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 17. All members are requested to attend.

LANGUAGE FESTIVAL IS MARDI GRAS

The Annual Language Festival this year, which was held Monday night at the YWCA, turned out to be a funfest for all. Four skits were pre-

Center Mass Meeting

Sophomores were informed at the mass meeting held Wednesday that they will be allotted three Convocation announcements and three tickets; each will entitle two guests to the program. The announcements and tickets will be distributed in the corridor at Walnut Street very soon.

Invitations will be extended to prominent citizens of Hazleton and several faculty members of the main campus. Any student who knows of someone who might be invited should submit his name to the faculty committee.

Alumni News

Former Center student now at the main campus, Howard "Sam" Hall, is a pledge of the music honorary fraternity, and Wilson Barto is a prospective member of the honorary journalism fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi. Barto was recently elected to the sophomore board of the Daily Collegian.

Dan Wargo, who starred in Dark of the Moon, has a role in the latest Players' production, John Loves Mary. The comedy runs on the campus May 5, 6 and 7.

sented by the Spanish club, a puppet show by the German club, a short play by the French club. Then the group participated in some community singing. All this was done in the respective languages of the club members. There was a good attendance and everyone enjoyed themselves. The co-chairladies for the affair were Edra Stafferi and Anna Erleman.

NO REPRESENTATIVES

On Saturday, May 14, a golf and tennis tournament will be held on the State College campus. All undergraduate centers have been invited to participate in the tourney. As yet, however, Hazleton Center has no one to represent it in either golf or tennis competition. If there are any persons who are interested in representing this Center they are urged to see Mr. Rudman at their earliest convenience.

INTRAMURAL SOFTBALL

Thus far competition in the intramural softball league has been slightly one-sided.

On Thursday, April 28, the Philosophers pounded the Supermen into submission 25-5. Jim Longo and Bill Radzwich pitched steady ball in the clutches allowing only nine scattered hits. The entire Philosopher team shared in the batting honors, banging Reynolds of the Supermen for 37 safeties. Mink and Hudock cracked 2 for 4 to head the losers at the plate.

In a double header on Friday the Warriors defeated the Schmoos, and the Philosophers topped the Rabbits with equally lopsided scores. The Warriors, behind the eight hit pitching of Joe Podrazik, exterminated the egg laying Schmoos, 13-3, with a fifteen hit barrage off S. Nowak. Boyle, O'Donnell and Nowak, however, each managed to collect 2 out of 3 for the losers.

Mrs. Hazleton's Philosophers copped their second league win in two days by trimming the Rabbits, 23-6. Once again it was the airtight pitching of Jim Longo, Bill Radzwich and Steve Kowalick that limited the Brer-Rabbits to four measly hits. Dean Underwood collected two of these four hits, one with the bases loaded, to drive in two runs for the harried Rabbits. Kostic started on the mound for the losers but was relieved by Trapani.

On Wednesday the Schmoos bounced into the win column by edging out the Supermen, 14-11. Pear-shaped Nowak notched his first win of the season although he was shaky in places. Shannon pitched for the losers. Ray Kostic rapped 4 for 4 including two home runs. Walter Bretz knocked a homer for the losers on top of Father Koval's car while the latter was washing it.

The Philosophers are slated to meet the Schmoos in a game starting at 4:15 this afternoon. On Monday afternoon the Supermen will meet the Rabbits, and the Engineers take on the Schmoos.

There will be a league meeting on Monday, the ninth, to determine the schedule for the following week.

At a previous league meeting the following rules were agreed upon by representatives of each team.

(1) No cleats or spikes are allowed.

(2) Permission must be obtained from the opposing team captain before using any outside players.

(3) Any outside player picked up by a team may not be used as a pitcher in any league games.

(4) All games played by the teams dropping from the league will count, and all future opponents will be credited with victorious.

(5) Two consecutive forfeits—dismissed from the league.

(6) A minimum of six players must be present at game time, or the game will be forfeited.

(7) No base leading or stealing will be allowed.
