ROTC MILITARY BALL ATTENDANCE DOWN, BUT A SOCIAL SUCCESS

The Military Ball sponsored by the Highacres unit of the Air Force ROTC last Saturday night at the Valley Country Club was a social, dancing, musical, and decorative success, but because it was attended by only 42 couples the dance was something less than a solvent operation.

A balmy spring night, the star-sprinkled gauze decor designed by Paul Williams, the out-of-this-world music of Frankie Reynolds and His Orchestra, and the crowning of Mathilda Goyda as queen of the ball were the ingredients of the social success.

Definitely not ingredients of the insolvency of the ball were the strenuous efforts of Cadet Captain George E. Seid, who was general chairman, and William Coll, who was treasurer of the affair.

STUDENTS ASSIST WITH BIG MAILING JOB FOR MAY DAY INVITATIONS

Student volunteers assisted with the final stages of the huge mailing job undertaken by women members of the Hazleton Educational Council (our citizens' advisory board), wives of council members, faculty women, and wives of faculty members, who set themselves the responsibility of inviting 1677 high school senior girls and their parents to the May Day crowning of our May Queen and to a tea afterwards. Wednesday evening here at college 25 of these women worked to address, seal, and sort the invitations.

Miss Pearl Garbrick reports, however, that a student group helped clean up the loose ends of the mailing job -- quite a task in itself. Loretta Romanofsky, Mathilda Goyda, and Paul Williams in one hour's time addressed 400 envelopes. Leonard Tarnowsky and Michael Belgio helped the women with the "stuffing" and folding of the envelopes. And Joseph Kendra and W. R. Troy finished up the counting and tying into bundles for delivery to the post office.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE STARTS TUESDAY

Coach Harold Wausat has announced that the Highacres softball league will "Play Ball" Tuesday April 29 on the athletic field. Teams and their captains entered in the league at this date are as follows: Bandits, Mike Evancho; Yankee Kippers, Frank Smida; Profile Nine, Larry Roman; Headpins, William Troy and J.C. Smith.

Tuesday's 5:00 p.m. opening date will bring together for a seven inning game the Profile Nine and the Headpins.

League rules call for each team to bring one umpire to the game.

QUESTION RAISED OVER COLLEGIAN PICTURE REVIEW VERSUS STEPPED-UP PICNIC

Following the presentation of a petition to Student Council proposing the transfer of funds budgeted to the HAZLETON COLLEGIAN for a "Pictorial Review" of the year's activities in booklet form to a fund for the elaboration of details for a spring college picnic, president of the Council Henry Giuliani called a meeting of the student body Thursday at noon in South Hall 101.

Vincent J. Corrado presented the case for the petitioners, who are in favor of using the COLLEGIAN funds for a more elaborate picnic. After spirited discussion of the petition, it was decided to hold a referendum vote, Monday morning. Council will provide a ballot box in the lobby of the main building and urges all students to express their opinions upon this question of the use to which their money (from student activities fees) is to be put.

 Jacqueline Garis, Isabel White, and Arlene Krieger livened the meeting by "sacrificing" Don Lewan and Bob Schoenhof to the "sun gods" for good May Day weather.
