NO BOOKS, NO FINAL EXAMS

Students who have not returned library books charged to them, by the last day of classes, Tuesday, May 27, will not be permitted to take final examinations. This has been announced by Miss Pearl Garbrick, librarian and instructor in music.

YOU HAVE PAID FOR YOUR TICKETS FOR THE CONVOCATION DINNER-DANCE AT GENETTI'S

When students paid their activities fees they paid for, among other things, their part of the expenses of the annual convocation dinner-dance, to be held this year at Genetti's, June 7. Students may obtain their tickets at the college bookstore starting next Monday with no additional charge. They must make these reservations, however, before the next Monday, June 2.

At the time they get their own tickets they may make reservations for their girl-friends, boy-friends, papas and mamas at the rate of $2.25.

State Senator Paul L. Wagner has been secured as the speaker.

At the convocation, academic and activities awards will be presented to individual students, and certificates will be presented to Air R.O.T.C. cadets who have completed the basic four-semester course.

MEN AND WOMEN TAPPED FOR PARNASSUS TO BE INITIATED THIS EVENING

The 14 men and women tapped to be charter members of Parnassus--the new honors society based upon character, participation in college activities, and scholarship--will be initiated this evening with appropriate ceremonies in the lounge of the main building. The pledges, who have been wearing their blue and white pledge ribbons this week, will gather with the entire faculty for the initiation, which will be presided over by Administrative Head Morle E. Campbell.

Students who will become charter members of Parnassus tonight are James O. Berish, William G. Coll, David W. Edwards, Clark G. Fiester, Mary H. Foulkrod, Donald G. Fisher, Mathilda A. Goyda, Marie E. Jacko, Dorothy Kosack, Gabriel P. Lensack, Loretta E. Romanofsky, Leonard M. Tarnowski, Jacquelynn F. Van Buskirk, and Paul N. Williams.
