 DINNER HELD BY FACULTY WIVES AND WOMEN A SUCCESS

The dinner which was held Friday November 14 for the Theta Sigma Pi Sorority here at Highacres was a great success.

The members of the sorority were guests at a buffet supper prepared by the faculty wives and faculty women.

After the dinner the girls engaged in games and getting acquainted, and everyone had a good time.

 FIRE ALARM

On the night of October 31, 1952, five engineers were seriously concentrating on the drawing problem due the next day. Everyone was doing his work until one of the engineers remarked, "I smell smoke." This remark brought on an investigation of the corners and walls of the room. After a little investigation the cause was found, a cigarette butt in the basket at the bottom of the steps which lead to the drawing room, had been smoldering together with an empty cigarette pack. Although the paper may have burst into flames it would not have caused any damage because it was in the basket made for the purpose. What would happen if the flame did spread?

If the flame had spread there probably would have been serious damage. The walls of the building are made of wood and plaster; the floors, wood.

Since there is only one fire extinguisher (in the furnace room) in the building, a serious fire could have developed. In the other dormitory building, which has two lecture rooms and a physics laboratory in the basement, there is one extinguisher.

Another danger of fire is the dry leaves which fall from the trees on and surrounding the campus. Although the weather is rather damp at the present time, under dry conditions the fallen leaves and the trees are fire hazards. If a match or burning cigarette was accidentally thrown into the leaves, a serious fire could result which could burn all the trees in this vicinity and Highacres too.

These are just a few of the accidents which can be prevented by being careful. A careless person could burn Highacres off the map. Fire is a wonderful servant when under control, but when it is out of control it is a bitter enemy. ALWAYS BE CAREFUL.

 X PARNASSUS MEETS

Parnassus, the honor society which is composed of strong students and campus leaders has had a number of meetings since the beginning of the fall semester.

Among matters discussed was the admission of freshmen to the ranks of Parnassus. It was announced that a 1.8 average plus five activity points are necessary in order to qualify.

Parnassus plans to organize a "Hat Society" similar to those on the main campus.

President Bill Coll announced that a complete social schedule will soon be available for publication.

Other officers include Dorothy Kosack-vice-president; Marie Jacko-recording secretary.

The advisor for the group is Mr. James Steel, instructor in Botany and Zoology.
