Mr. Peightal spoke about Ancient and Present Egypt. He brought in the topics: the gods, culture, cities, and other things of interest to the members of the Dynasty. Mr. James Steele, advisor of the Dynasty, and Bob Henney, one of the fraternity members who - went on his shore leave - occasionally kicked up a few mean storms behind the pyramids, also spoke about Egypt and its points of interest.

The meeting was then called to a close and all the Mummies went back to their cases.

BUS SHELTER

Mr. Campbell, Administrative Head at Highacres, is now seriously thinking about the construction of a bus shelter at the intersection of the Hazleton-Berwick road and the road leading to Highacres. He has a drawing - drawn by himself - of the prospective appearance of the shelter. The bus shelter can be used especially during rain and snow and will be a great asset to the center.

CALENDAR ENGAGEMENT

Here is a reminder. Don't make any dates between the dates May 23 to May 28. This is the period which is definitely set aside for final examinations.

---

TREE PLANTING

Hazleton Center, to give a more beautiful appearance to the student's parking lot, is now in the process of planting trees near the main road. There are thirty hawthorne trees - a relative of the rose bush - being planted; five different varieties, each having a different color, flower, and fruit. This durable tree is about fifteen feet in diameter when mature -- that will be about twenty years from now -- too late for any of us to appreciate.

THOSE TWELVE WEEK BLUEBOOKS!

Attention! ! Attention! ! Twelve week failing grades will be available at your advisors office on about Wednesday or Thursday of next week---we hope. That hope is that the failing grades report is out and that there aren't any failing grades--especially for you.

"AN THE JOINT JUMPED"

The Main Campus had Billy May; Saint Joseph's had Ralph Flanagan; but at the last dancing class Highacre's discovered and now can claim a new and different combo. Coming to the rescue as they usually do, the fraternity brothers saved the night again by providing what they call, "The Dixieland Tree." These music-makers just finished playing successful engagements at Hoppy's, the Broadview, and Club "28".

Dancing to records can be fun, but what could liven up a party more than the real thing? Horsetrader Ed Eisiminger banging out a mean rhythm set the pace for the double Dick Continoes--Jack Gromniak and Nick Pelick. The boys started out with a slow number, but the applause told them that the audience thought they were real cool.

Making an appearance were the seldom seen, but always together Cathy Kokinda and B. B. Burcin.

John Alampi and Paul Kisatsky now can be considered connoisseurs of the dance. They're almost as good as ole' tap toes Tracy.

Now faces seen were Dave Landau, Tony Nask, Marv Edelstein, Bob Valaik, Joan Haegle, Joe Arden, Jim Carroll, Gene O'Neill, John Carr, and Fugi DeToma.

Mr. Grubbs joined in the fun and proved himself another Arthur Murrpy.

Then the combo played and the audience sang the Mu Delta Sigma's National
