
SORORITY NEWS

Last Thursday, October 15, the Theta Sigma Pi Sorority held its first business meeting.

Several plans were discussed for the semester's social activities and a few were voted on. President Harriet Tullin announced that the Sorority dues would be collected this week. All girls were asked to pay their dues for September and October.

The next meeting will be held sometime next week.

AN APPEAL: CLEAN UP YOUR MESS

Every student is familiar with the cafeteria but few realize the condition in which they are leaving it. Mrs. Smith, our competent cook, has asked if all students would please put their dishes and rubbish or paper in the boxes and carriers designated for them.

After they finish eating, many leave the cafeteria with their napkins and dishes still on the table. It will be greatly appreciated if all students would co-operate to keep our cafeteria floors and tables clean, and lessen the burden on Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Michael.

ATTENTION AMATEUR ASTRONOMERS

The college has received most of the necessary equipment for making a 6-inch Newtonian reflecting telescope. Mr. Ward is now busily engaged in grinding a large piece of glass into a mirror at the physics lab, and later, after the mirror is ground, it will be sent away to have a thin coating of aluminum put on. All this is taking much time and effort on Mr. Ward's part as the mirror must be exact to within one-one millionth of an inch; with such a smooth finish you can see a fingerprint stand above the surface of the glass---that is really cutting things close when you consider that this is being done by hand! At the rate the telescope is being made, Mr. Ward hopes to be able to put it into use this year---so break out your space suits as the time is coming to go exploring the stars.

COLLEGE ARTS SOCIETY

Wednesday, October 21, a meeting was held in M-208 to reorganize the College Arts Society. There were nine students present and several more had voiced their interest to Mr. Ward but were unable to attend. Mr. Ward explained the function of the society and a probable agenda was formulated. It was decided that the money appropriated by Student Council would be used to rent films to be shown later in the year. Volunteers were taken to constitute a committee to select the films. The meeting was then adjourned.

CADETS CASH IN

Penn State Center was commendably represented in last Saturday's Mummer's Parade by 80 lads wearing the Air Force blue of the A.F.R.O.T.C.

The Cadets marched in two squadrons led by a sleek Cadillac. The auto was driven by Cadet Donald Snover and carried Captain Walter E. Carper and Cadet Emil Butchko, the group photographer.

Onlookers were surprised at the appearance our Cadets made and were also surprised at how well they counted cadence. The parade was a very good experience for the Cadets and was also helpful to the extent of increasing the AFROTC budget by $45.
