A motion was made and seconded for the College Arts Society to secure the film circulated by the main campus on the Penn-Pitt football game.

COLLEGE ARTS PRESENTS "ORPHEUS"

Monday evening, February 8, the College Arts Society presented the second selection on its list of films. The film shown was entitled "Orpheus". It was a modern version by Jean Cocteau of the myth of Orpheus, dating back to ancient Greece. Immediately preceding the film showing, Mr. Grubbs related the ancient tale to the audience.

Due, undoubtedly, to the inclement weather the turnout for the movie was small. However, those who did brave the weather were well rewarded by an evening of fine entertainment.

Friday, February 12, the first meeting of the College Arts Society was held at 12:25. This was a very important meeting to plan a program for the semester.

During the past week there were various showings of the slide lecture "Making Pictures People Like". These lectures are produced by the Eastman Kodak Company, and the College Arts Society is planning several other lectures of this type. The next lecture is entitled "Filters for Picture Improvement" and will be shown in the early part of March.
