

---

 THE LATEST SCOOP --- RIGHT FROM HEADQUARTERS

Perhaps they can use measures ( such as closing the girls' lounge) to somewhat limit the inexhaustible energy of the girls of Penn State Center. However, there is one thing that no one, absolutely no one, can limit... that is the incessant talking of girls. Despite the fact that the girls' lounge has been closed for a whole week, the latest news continues, as usual, to be communicated from girl to girl. So that the rest of the students will not be deprived of knowing about the highlights around the Center we have decided to let you know what's going on. Here's some of the latest;

A few members of the opposite sex, having a great deal of knowledge about terms and statements decided to use them. John Crine, after one of his usual dorm treatments, said, "Forgive them, Dean Krecker, for they know not what they do".

.... Mr. Steel, on a stormy day, after walking through S-101 during one of Mr. Peightal's political science classes concerning the topic "rugged individualism", said, as he reached the door and the icy blast, "Pardon me, but I'm not a "rugged individualist."

Some of the girls, greatly impressed by the movie "The Greatest Show On Earth", have formed the Sabastian Club. Incidentally their song of the week is "Everybody's doing it". If you're interested in learning the words contact Jackie Cohn; if you're a good learner perhaps she'll teach you the "ToothBrush Song" too,

There are going to be some changes in courses for some of the girls. Betty Iffert has announced she wants to take a course in home nursing. Pat Tomsho wants to change to the two year engineering course. I suppose there will be some other girls going along with both of them,

Larry Yannes, a bit different than the rest of the boys, has a very dainty bedroom. Most boys' bedrooms are blue... his is PINK and BLUE.

After the first semester's marks the students have turned over a new leaf and decided to study in new ways. Lilli Junas just about recopies a book, Ed Bradley under lines practically an entire book, and Mike Blass colors all the pictures.

Several nights ago, when several of the vets went out for a sociable evening Clint Frank was supposedly lost. However, what the rest of them didn't realize was that he wasn't really lost. He just went home to bed---where they should have been at three in the morning.

Wednesday night Tommy Breslin went to see his girl and didn't get home till four in the morning he said the car was stuck, but some of his friends, knowing Tom, think he was just detained.

Margie Brehm and Mary Ann Kowalick, in desperate need of money, found a new way to raise a penny. They took their shoelaces out of their shoes and sold them. It worked too!

This is all the news for now. And this is also a hint to the rest of you students, if you want the "news of the day", ask the girls---they know it all... practically all anyway.

---

 STAFF

Managing Editor-- George Mastrian

Copy Editor -- Norm Hall

Typists

Carolyn Arlotto

Mary Lou Lotito

Mary Jane Skoff

Jack Di Liberto

Ralph Catino

Stencils

Shirley Ray

Art Teel

Reporters

Ellen Iffert

Lilli Junas

Mary Lou Lotito

Ilona Weltman

Shirley Ray

Norby Turnbach

Bob Henney