

SIGNS OF SPRING

Last Saturday night spring officially arrived to this section of the country, and although the weather isn't to be depended upon yet, there are some signs of this long-awaited season evident around Highacres. For one thing, the birds are returning. This reporter missed about five minutes of Mr. Steele's lecture in botany lab. Wed., because a robin digging for worms outside the window distracted my attention.

Other evidences of spring can be found among the students. The girls are talking about Easter bonnets, May Day, and boys. While the boys are talking about baseball, and you guessed it, girls. Of course, everyone is beginning to talk about spring vacation. What's causing Norm Hall and Ellen Iffert to look so dazzled? Why spring of course. Why has Joe Fierro been falling asleep in education class? Is it spring fever? Probably. Have you seen Lili Junas, Mary Lou Lotito, and Mary Jane Scoff skipping rope with Maureen and Mary Pat Coyne's jump rope? That's a sure sign of spring.

Yes, that wonderful season is really here, but midsemester bluebooks are too, so don't give in to spring fever too early.

BAD WEATHER HAMPERS DANCE---BUT FUN PREVAILS

A fair-sized crowd turned out for the weekly College shindig last night. Those who attended were entertained by a floor show and piano concert. New songs: Alone Again, Hurdy-Gurdy Waltz, and others were presented and enjoyed by all. A new version of the jitterbug, bunny hop, and roo roo kangaroo were combined in the featured "Floor Show". Sen. Steele was seen around.
