

COMMUNITY CHORUS

The first meeting of the Community Chorus took place last Tuesday night. From the first night attendance it looks like this year will prove to be the best so far. There are many new members this year along with most of the "vets" of last year, so that there are about twenty members in all. Also this year there is a new "Professor" making his debut at the piano, playing the accompaniment to the Chorus. For the first part of the year most of the time will be devoted to preparing for the coming Christmas concert. There are still many positions open, so if anyone feels inclined to give out with a warble now and then he certainly welcome.
