Hello,

This week has really been one for strange sights. The neck-wear styles have been the weirdest.

There was John Harry's burlesque posters and Dale Walker's yellow knitted knee length tie. I like the casual way Mike Ohl wore his tie - hanging from his belt.

And then there were the girls, Looking more like milkmaids than babies they attracted much attention, (When don't they?)

I wonder if these styles will have any effect on future trends.

ATTENTION MARY JANE

I am available.

OTTO

I hear that Pete McMonigle doesn't want anyone to know that he is all for the McAdoo Pastry Shop because they have a lot of sweet things there. Naturally, I'll oblige Pete - I won't tell anyone.

T. J. Anthony (who seems to spend all his time in the Cafeteria) was seen chuckling over Guy "Butterball" Davis' one man campaign to diminish the food supply of the kitchen.

It seems that Mary Lu was kind enough to devote her evenings to explaining the values of initiation to Dave Drasher. Mary Lu certainly is a persuasive debater!

There seems to be a diversity in choice of type of women that our college men check. While Howie Jacobs takes out high school girls, Jack Pretti and John McGraw like their women older. (About fifty?)

Eddie Birosh seemed worried about the publication of an article about him. Guilty conscience Eddie?

To the poor bewildered reader who wants to know about the joke? on page six of last weeks paper, I can only sympathize with you. (I didn't understand it either.)

We would like to wish Mrs. Smith a belated Happy Birthday from all the students and Chippy - - - Happy Birthday Mrs. Smith.
P. S. Didn't she look cute in Bove's top-hat?

Not to be overdone by Art Teel, Bob Yori was heard to remark to his cadets: "You're free to look around, but don't move."

That's about it for this week. Have a nice time at the party tonight and remember I'll be watching you.

Love,
Chippy
