

MRS. JAMES LONGO DIES

We, the students of Highacres, express our deepest feelings of the loss of Mrs. James Longo, mother of Mr. John Longo, accounting instructor at our center. Mrs. Longo passed this life on Wednesday evening in Schnectady, New York. The funeral will be held on Monday in Sheppton with a service at her home at 9:30 a.m. and requiem mass in Saint Joseph's Church at 10:00 a.m.

PARNASSUS REPORT

On Wednesday afternoon the Parnassus Society met and concluded plans for the Fall initiation of new members. A speaker was contacted for the affair and the members were assigned their duties for the night. Also, Miss Garbrick treated the society with tea and fudge.

DANCING CLASS HELD LAST NIGHT

Last night the social committee held their first dancing class of the season. Although the lounge was not bul ging the handful that did come enjoyed themselves. This "one happy family" cut the rug in such a fashion that Carl Christopher had to have his legs rubbed when he went home last night. Al Dallao gave a few renditions of the rhumba, in Japanese, Hungarian and Highacres style.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The Penn State Engagement Book is now on sale in the
BOOKSTORE

PRICE-----$1.00
GET YOURS TODAY*DON'T DELAY!!!

WE'LL SEE YOU IN THE MAIN LOUNGE ON MONDAY AT 8:00p.m.
It's the TITAN, a full length movie.