

THE NITTANY LIONS DO IT AGAIN

University Park, Penna.

Penn State is a large university with many big things. The biggest at the moment seems to be our football team. Last Saturday the Nittany Lions, before an All-University Day crowd of 47,070 defeated North Carolina State 13-8. The victory was our fifth in a row and came against a team which was previously undefeated and ranked third in the nation. This should bring us some attention when it comes to bids for post-season bowl games.

Although our main deterrent in recent games seems to be the stubborn sophomore-dominated defensive unit, we also have such offensive talent as singback Charlie Pitman, quarterback Tom Sherma and end Ted Kwalick who teamed together to produce our only offensive touchdown on an 18 yard pass play. Denny Okontz proved the on offense is a good defense as he raced 67 yards with an intercepted pass to give State 13 points. This proved to be all that we needed as two punts and an intentional safety was all North Carolina State could manage against our stubborn defensive unit. Our remaining games are with Ohio University and the University of Pittsburgh. We should finish the season in one of the jamor bowl games, and then bring on the Philadelphia Eagles.

GIL'S CORNER

The intramural program here at Delaware Campus, though it has gotten off to a slow start, shows a great deal of the usual Delaware Campus enthusiasm, support, and spirit. We are currently involved in an eight team touch-football league. On Tuesday, November 7, teams I and III faced each other in a highly spirited exhibition game, which ended with team I on top 8-0. Team I managed to score on the opening kickoff thanks to the swift, elusive running of quarterback Don Nocito. They then scored later in the first half by catching quarterback Frank Lavelle behind his goal for a safety. Thursday November 9, saw team V go down in defeat to team VI in a hard fought, but losing, effort 12-0. Nick Sein scored both touchdowns on sensational over the shoulder catches of perfect throws by quarterback John Swain. On Tuesday, November 14 teams I and III again met. This time it was for keeps. Both teams were evenly matched, neither allowing the other to score. Consequently at the end of the second half the score was tied 0-0. Since both teams also were tied in first downs, it was necessary for a minute sudden-death overtime. This period also ended in a 0-0 deadlock, however, team III had managed to get two more first-downs and was thereby awarded this hard-fought defensive battle thanks to first downs by Mike Formica and Steve Heller.
