

THE DEAN SPEAKS

Dear Students:

As we begin the academic year I am pleased to offer a welcome and congratulations to those of you whom I have met and to you students I have yet the pleasure of meeting.

Congratulations are in order to you for being chosen one out of a possible four students that could have attended the University. Naturally, I should like to point out to you that the four years you are in college will probably be the last time in your life you can devote most of your energies toward self-improvement. So choose your academic and social activities wisely as you move forward on the road to professionalism by being a "thinking doer" and not a "wishing hoper." The future is yours . . . go get it!

Once again I hope that this experience will be a happy one for you, full of fond memories and pride at being able to call yourself a student of The Pennsylvania State University.

EDWARD F. LINDER, JR.
Dean of Student Affairs

Editor's Remarks . . .

Welcome to the Delco Campus.

Upon your arrival a whole new pattern of academic life awaits you.

As a commuter student, the task of getting to class on time through traffic and the chaos of finding a parking place will subside with the joy of meeting and making new friends.

Activities will engulf you in a concern for your fellow students as well as your community. Academic pressure will help you mature with wisdom and determination to strive for success.

If any problem prevents you from achieving a goal, your advisor and guidance counselor are there to console you.

There are no locked doors at this campus.

All of the faculty, staff and administrators are more than happy to help you.

I am determined to make this year a huge success—for you, for Penn State, and for myself. With your help I want the academic atmosphere enhanced so that our students are the best prepared to meet the challenges of the outside world.

I want a social atmosphere that will cater to the varied interests of our students, one that will bring people happily together for the purpose of sheer fun—a necessary diversion that enables you to do your best academically. I want the Student Government Association to become a well organized, well supported organization that knows how to use its power to interpret the will of the student body and actualize it.

Although these are the major areas I want to tackle this year, I have very few answers. I am depending on you—all of you!

STUDENT COUNT LARGER THAN EVER!

Fall term enrollment at the Delaware County Campus is expected to be comparatively larger than last year.

The campus expects to enroll a total of approximately 915 students during Fall Term registration, an increase of 100 students over last fall.

A total of 475 first-term freshmen have received summer counseling. In addition, we expect about 320 returning students to register.

The remaining students—advanced standing, re-admissions, transfer, etc.—should total about 73.

We also expect 47 adjunct students to register, bringing the total to 915.

There are always a number of students classified as "No-Shows," i.e., we expect them to enroll but they may have changed their minds without notifying the University. There are also usually a number of students who were admitted late and who therefore are not counted in our figures. Both of these instances will affect the enrollment totals one way or the other.

Of the entering first-term freshmen, about 100 of the 475 will be in the associate degree programs.
