WHAT'S NEWS IN THE UNIVERSITY

THE FUTURE IN ENGINEERING

Job prospects for qualified engineers are very good these days, says Dr. Nunzio J. Palladino, dean of the College of Engineering at Penn State. Dean Palladino points to a new report from the Industrial Research Institute, Engineering Manpower Commission of the Engineers Joint Council, and the Scientific Manpower Commission which says that industrial research organizations are hiring more engineers

The U. S. Department of Labor has predicted a deficit of engineers in the late 1970's citing areas of weakness in the availability of experienced people with project leadership and management ability, both inside and outside research laboratories.

A shortage of engineers exists, why? Earnest Weidhaas, assistant dean for Commonwealth Campuses in the College of Engineering, attributes this to the "scare" of the late 1960's, when thousands of engineers found themselves unemployed due to the cutback in defense funding. It was then that many parents and guidance counselors told students that engineering was a "dead end."

An untapped source of engineers is women. Although female enrollments in engineering programs are slowly increasing, only one per cent of the engineering profession is female. Female engineers are receiving the same starting salaries as their male counterparts.

One survey shows that by 1975, there won't be enough applicants to fill all the technical positions that will be open.

FOOTBALL GUIDE

Penn State's football press guide, a 104-page book of facts and figures about the 1973 Nittany Lions, is now available. A limited number of the guides are on sale for $2 each at the ticket office, 237 Recreation Building, University Park, Pa. 16802. Add 50 cents for mailing

The 1973 brochure includes biographical information on players and coaches, facts on 1973 opponents, future schedules, past records and results, a list of all-time lettermen, rosters and other information about Penn State football.

HOW TO EARN UNIVERSITY CREDIT

A special subcommittee has been established in the University Faculty Senate to work on the "standardization of the many ways in which persons may earn Pennsylvania State University credits.

The subcommittee is charged with re-examining Senate policies on such present methods of earning credits as College Level Examination Program, Advanced Standing, Credit by Examination, Advanced Placement Program, Continuing Education courses, Transfer Credits and Independent Study by Correspondence.

It will also formulate policies for other methods, including United States Armed Forces Institute and military service schools courses, and will consider student mobility from Associate degree to baccalaureate degree status.

INTERNING AS A FARMER

Agricultural economics and agricultural business management students are getting a chance to confirm or change their career choices thanks to a new internship program developed at University Park.

Students are given the option of spending a ten-week term in their junior year working in cooperating agricultural processing firms, at public and private agencies, or in farm supply stores and equipment companies. Several students in the program accepted permanent jobs with the firms where they interned after graduation last spring.

Even those not completely satisfied with their internship work experience agreed it was valuable. One junior, for example, had decided on a career in research and accepted a job with a private research firm. Although he found the experience interesting, he also discovered that he did not like being desk-bound and on returning to school, adjusted his curriculum to a more action-oriented program.

Une Lion's Epe

The Pennsylvania State University Delaware County Campus

в
	EDITOR-IN-CHIEF, PRO TEM Bob Joseph
	SPORTS EDITOR
	FEATURE EDITOR Mike D'eSimone
	BUSINESS MANAGER Mary Rose Robinson
	EDITORIAL PAGE Mary Rose Robinson
	ADVISOR Ed Tomezsko

Goode Receives N.A.C.S. Certificate

Kenneth A. Goode, (left), bookstore manager, receives a certificate upon completion of the National Association of College Stores' operations course at Oberlin College. Since receiving the certificate, Goode has also completed the first half of a twoyear management seminar sponsored by the N.A.C.S. Campus Director John D. Vairo presented the certificate to Goode.

Faculty Promotions

Six faculty members at The Pennsylvania State University's Delaware County Campus have been granted academic promotions, effective July 1st. The announcement was made by University President, John W.

Three of the teachers were promoted to the rank of associate professor and three to the rank of assistant professor. They were among 202 faculty members throughout the Penn State system who received promotions.

Those promoted to the rank of associate professor are Dr. Jane E. Cooper, biology; Dr. Gladys Ritchie, speech; and Dr. Gemma Newman, speech.

Promoted to the rank of assistant professor are Robert W. Spickler, health and physical education; Michael A. Kersnick, business administration; and Dr. Martin W. Sharp, Jr., education.

Scholarship Fund At Delco

DELAWARE COUNTY TAVERN OWNERS ASSOCIATION SCHOLARSHIP

Delaware County Tavern Owner Association Scholarship for 1973-74 is now accepting applications for this grant. The applications will be available in the Office of Student Affairs, 212, after/September 6 and must be completed before September 21.

The scholarship consists of an award of $500.00.

The criteria for the awarding of the scholarship are: evidence of superior academic achievement by a grade point average above 3.00, financial need determined by a Parent's Confidential Statement, resident of Delaware County, and must be a 2nd, 3rd or 4th term student in a degree program at the Delaware County Campus.

A Student's Dictionary For Delco Campus . . .

- Mike DeSimone

Although this newspaper is published with the entire student body in mind, this author thought best that this particular article be aimed at the needs of the incoming freshman who is ignorant of many of the landmarks and organizations that exist within this institution. Thus, the following is a sort of directory to Penn State.

The Lion Statue -

replica of the 1936 masterpiece created by noted sculptor Jaques Lipsticktz who lost the use of his arms in the First World

Lounge Mural — formally titled, "View into the Thoughts of a Severed Head", it is rumored that the artist was inspired by a meatball sandwich which he purchased from a nearby vending machine. Many further maintain that the mural itself contains remnants of the original sandwich. Fourth Floor Pool - a non-existent facility donated to this institution by various high schools.

Pot Parties -

(see fourth floor pool) Incoming Freshmen see: cattle.

Registration -

see meat processing. Textbook Prices see: cattle rustling.

organization that is also known as the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Cattle. Coffeehouse - a fourteen inch tall structure in Flotsam, Nebraska constructed solely of coffee grounds and Elmer's glue.

Student Lounge -

an eating and lounging facility that is affectionately known to students as "The Tomb" at 8:00 A.M. and "Bombay Street Scene" at noontime.

Library a place that at noontime becomes an alternate student lounge with books serving as quaint scenario.

Librarian

individual who works in a library.

Condition of lounge after students are done with it see: hamburger.

DANCE MARATHON

THE LITTLE KID ON THE LEFT WASN'T IN THE CONTEST. BOB MORTI-MER, DIANE SMITH, AND THE WINNERS AFTER 18 HOURS WITH NO SIGN OF TIRING!

THE WINNERS, AFTER 36 HOURS OF DANCING, ARE BARB McCARTY AND MARK WHITMORE.