remedy the situation. Only problem is, "Born to Run" doesn't answer too many exam essay questions.

7. Another study method is to leave your notebook in the lavatory and while you're taking the final, make a lot of trips to the bathroom.

8. If all else fails, you can always bribe the teacher. Whatever you do, don't ask for a receipt.

If you are in doubt as to what kinds of questions may be asked, here is a small sample of what types of questions may be asked:

- Develop 12 new theories on nuclear fission.
- Discuss undiscovered particles and explain why they remain undiscovered.
- Explain the origins of life on earth in 25 words or less. Answer should be typed double-space, using one side of the page in one blue book.
- Explain politics.

--Trace your family tree back to Solomon. Be specific! I'm not saying these questions will be used, but don't take any chances. In answering questions, use "person" or "persons" instead of man or men. Some teachers are women's liberationists.

Well, there you have it--the Joe College installment, "MY COLUMN . . .OR SOMETHING LIKE THAT" is an exclusive feature of the Lion's Eye, thank goodness. Good luck in your finals, and maybe we can return next term. Until then, love, peace, and the girl next door . . .

ience. This new setting did not hinder Wakeman's genius musicianship as the band proceeded to play various selections from his previous albums: Henry the Eighth, Journey. . . and King Arthur. He rendered only one selection from Lisztomania which didn't live up to the quality of the rest of the performance.

On the whole, though, Wakeman was better than ever. Perhaps he will keep his less extravagant surroundings on his next LP. If so, expect some good, listenable music from Rick.

A Change Of Life

By: Ivetta Stephens

In the beginning.....
reunions of old friends
touch and go
making adjustments
trial and error
great expectations
Live and appreciate

self-advancement.....
transitions complete
search and learn
two-fold identity
if and when
merging with society
now or later

It has to be.....
taking life seriously
life and death
finishing prerequisites for
joy and fulfillment
becoming productive in
advancement and contributions
entwined in fate
past and present
is our future

suggestions. I feel there should be a few more types of ice cream. Very few seem to buy the hot canned foods so they should be replaced by more favorable kinds. Is it possible to bring in some new foods like pizza? One student suggested we add lemonade to the drink line, which is mainly made up of soda. To insure freshness in the bagged snacks, they should be changed within a relatively short period of time and why not change the usual snacks, pretzels, corn chips, cheese doodles to new ones like pretzel nuggets, popcorn, etc.

If you have any suggestions of your own, take them to the food attendants who would be glad to help. In case you are not sure where to find them, their office is next to the change machine when you first walk in.

HAVING YOU, NOW

By: Susan M. Siciliano
(Dedicated to G.D. deC.)

I can't remember
seeing the sky
so bright
on a winter's day,
or feeling the warmth
surround me
with the freshness
and beauty of May.

But, then again,
last winter,
my world was absent
of you
and all the promise
and brightness
was hidden
from my view.

For you are my sun
my warmth
and my love,
a treasure I adore,
and having you, now,
a part of my world
makes life worth
so much more.

ICE HOCKEY TEAM CHECKS DREXEL

The Penn State Del. Co. Ice Hockey team played their first league game at the University of Pennsylvania Ice Rink on October 23rd. The opponent was Drexel University Varsity Club. Under the leadership of acting coach-goal tender Vince Arcadia, the team surged to a 6-3 victory. The team played well in front of fine goal tending from Rocky Musciano and Chip Stephenson. They both came up with superb saves to turn back a Drexel attack in which 24 shots were fired.

The high scorer was Bill Simpkins, an exciting skater who pumped home three goals for the "hat trick". Other goals were added by Steve DiRico (1), Mark Hendrixson (1), and Mike Larkin (1).

After the game coach Arcadia commented on the team's play, "The team shows promise for an exciting and victorious season. It was a team effort and everyone skated and played well."
