

April 27, 1978

To the members of the LION'S EYE staff:

I hereby resign from my position as managing editor of our newspaper. It has become increasingly difficult making decisions as to the content of the paper. In order to be objective, I consulted other members of the editorial board. By going with their decisions concerning the Aamodt resignation, I was forced to go against my own values. I refuse to be put in that position again.

It is my sincere desire that the newspaper act in an objective and professional manner. I hope that the remaining members of the staff can forget their own ambitions and get back to the job of informing the students.

Sincerely,

Edward J. Wrzesniewski Jr.