

College Students Stage Anti-Iran Protests

(UPI) -- A wave of anti-Iranian protest rolled across college campuses this month in the most emotional outpouring of student sentiment since the anti-Vietnam War demonstrations.

But this time the major cry was in support of the United States with the waving of the stars and stripes replacing the flag burning as hundreds of students demonstrated against Iranian seizure of the American Embassy in Tehran.

At Old Dominion University in Virginia, about 500 students set fire to an Iranian flag and waved an American flag as they sang "God Bless America" and chanted "Let our people go."

"I wouldn't mind seeing us drop a few bombs on Iran, provided we could get the hostages out," Mike Yulkish, an Old Dominion sophomore, shouted into a microphone.

About 400 Eastern Kentucky University students demonstrated at the campus ravine, chanting "Nuke Iran" and "Eastern Hates Iranians." A U.S. flag was draped over the outdoor stage of the amphitheater and banners hanging from the roof of the amphitheater read "We Love the Shah" and "Bomb Iran."

At Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., about 70 members of the Students for Reestablishment of American Pride held a lunchtime rally and were confronted by about 35 pro-Iranian demonstrators.

The football team at Roger Williams College in Bristol, R.I., sponsored an anti-Iranian rally where about 125 demonstrators shouted objections to the seizure of the American hostages. An Iranian student who walked by the demonstrators was taunted but not hurt, one witness said.

Faculty-Student Discussion Groups

Everyone's Invited

Faculty-Student discussion groups will meet six times during the 1979-80 school year, according to Dr. Joan Mandel, Assistant Professor of Sociology, who coordinates the program.

The informal, one-hour sessions "provide the opportunity for a dialogue among faculty, staff, and students on important and current issues," Mandel said.

Each discussion is moderated by Mandel and features a faculty member as guest speaker. Each speaker prepares opening remarks, raises pertinent issues, or provides information to facilitate the discussion.

"These discussions provide an intellectual context within which we can exchange views and opinions with one another and our students," Mandel said.

Dr. Christopher Johnstone, Associate Professor of Speech

COLONIES IN SPACE, December 12, 11:30 - 12:30, Dr. Peter Georgopoulos, Associate Professor of Physics.

THE WAR BETWEEN THE SEXES, January 10, 12:00 - 1:00, Dr. Judy Davis, Assistant Professor of Psychology.

STATISTICS DON'T LIE... OR DO THEY? February 6, 12:00 - 1:00, Dr. Michael Kersnick, Assistant Professor of Business Administration.

POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC IMPLICATIONS OF GENETIC SCREENING, March 19, 12:00 - 1:00, Dr. Jane Cooper, Associate Professor of Biology.

Communication, was guest speaker for the first session, The Ethnic of Friendship, on October 19.

All students and faculty are invited to attend the remaining sessions - feel free to bring a bag lunch.

Food Service Still Incomplete

It is nearly two months since Freshie Foods was awarded a contract to operate the cafeteria in the modular building, but the service is still not completed.

Campus Director John D. Vairo said that according to the contract, the firm would provide the design for the snack bar and would be responsible for hours of operation and pricing.

According to Irv Fine of Freshie Foods, much of the new

Continued on Page 2

Artist and Lecture Series

"Adam and Eve" Coming to Campus

The Artist and Lecture Series Committee will present the Alpha-Omega Players performing Mark Twain's The Diary of Adam and Eve on Wednesday, December 5, at 12:15 in room 101.

Music, humor, and nostalgia combine to provide a new perspective on the lives of the first man and the first woman. Adapted from a short story by Mark Twain, with music by the composers of "Fiddler on the Roof," Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, this is the story of the beginnings of the age-old struggle between man and woman, as relevant today as it was in the Garden of Eden.

Adam is given the task of naming all the creatures in the Garden of Eden. He is justifiably proud of naming a pickerell a swimmer and a parrot - a loud-mouthed fatbeak, until Eve intuitively calls them by their proper name and proceeds to instruct Adam in the art of etymology. Adam makes a very poor student, however, and concludes that if today Eve is two days old, "She will never make it to four."

Twain's wit is prevalent throughout the show and so is his sensitivity. Written shortly after the death of his wife, and in memory of her, "Adam and Eve" concludes with a poignant touching scene and a

Continued on Page 2

(Photo by Mary Pat Ford)

Brrr... Student, faculty and staff members are gearing up for Winter Term. Related stories and photos on page 4.

Eve explains to a principled but gullible Adam the merits of eating the apple, in a scene from Mark Twain's comedy hit, The Diary of Adam and Eve as presented by the Alpha-Omega Players.

In This Issue...

- *Revised Parking Policy, page 3
- *Winter Survival, page 4
- *Penn State in Liberty Bowl, page 7
- *Campus Timetable, page 8

ONLY
26
SHOPPING
DAYS
LEFT BEFORE
CHRISTMAS

