Librarian Promoted

Joyce S. Rigby, library clerk at the campus since July, 1979, has been named administrative assistant in the Office of Academic Affairs, effective December 1, replacing Jane Sheetz whose retirement is effective November 30.

Rigby is a graduate of Penn State, with a major in home economics and a minor in journalism, where she was editor of News and Views, the Home Economics magazine, and a staff writer for The Collegian. She worked for the Warren (PA) Times-Mirror as an editorial assistant and later as a library aide at Media and Springton Lake Junior High Schools and as a library technician at the Media School. She is active in the First United Methodist Church, of Media, and is a board member of the Media-Upper Providence Library.

Reminder:

By now, students should have pre-registered for courses they wish to take for Winter Term 1980-81. However, Mr. Eugene Cannon, Financial Officer, wants all to be aware that "Pre-registration is a nomenclature for early course selection."

Students are not registered for classes until they pay tuition each term. In addition because bills were mailed October 23, 1980 from the Bursar's Office, payment must be mailed immediately to the Bursar's Office. Receipts will be forwarded to students by mail in which they must bring to the Records Office, Room 312-M, to confirm registration.

Registration for Winter Term 1981 begins December 1, at 8:30 a.m. in room 312M in the main building.

IMPORTANT!

The new network number for the Delaware County Campus is now 361-2011.

At University Park. . .

. . . The Association of Residence Hall Students is surveying students at the main campus this month to determine what their attitudes are toward coed housing. ARHS will present a coed housing proposal to University President John W. Oswald by the end of the term. Coed housing does exist in interest houses at the main campus (where students enrolled in a particular college are housed together) and at some Commonwealth Campuses.

. . . Student advising, courses taught by graduate assistants, class size, and the ineffectiveness of student government are the most negative factors in a University student's life, according to the results of interviews and questionnaires given to 300 seniors Spring Term. The Daily Collegian reported that 81 percent of the graduating seniors polled rated their academic preparation as good to excellent, and if they had the opportunity to do it over again, 82 percent would enroll at Penn State. The results of the survey are the first completed part of a two-part study conducted on the class of 1980, the newspaper said. The other part of the survey studied attitudes of the students after their freshman year. Other results of the survey found that 76 percent of the students rated their dorm experience as excellent to good because it facilitated social relationships. The chief complaint of residence hall living was its lack of privacy and overcrowding.

. . . The total dollar value of private gifts to the University has decreased by more than $700,000 in 1980, compared to the same period in 1979, according to the Daily Collegian. From July 1, 1978, to June 30, 1979, the University Office of Gifts and Endowments received $10,302,772 worth of gifts from private sources. From July 1, 1979, to June 30, 1980, the total decreased to $9,562,685, still the second-highest total in the University's history. However, the number of gifts increased from 42,458 to 44,081 during the same period.

. . . Carly Simon cancelled a soldout concert scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 12 in Rec Hall at University Park, after she collapsed from extreme exhaustion during a show in Pittsburgh one week earlier. The scheduled eight-stop, three-week tour would have been Simon's first major tour in eight years. It was undertaken to promote her latest album, "Come Upstairs," which includes the current hit single, "Jesse." The wife of singer-songwriter James Taylor, Simon has been stressed with recent marital problems and her son's kidney surgery.

. . . Over 11,000 persons who were students at University Park during Spring Term 1978 are plaintiffs in a class action suit filed against the University. The lawsuit claims that a refund of a portion of the Housing and Food Service charges for the Spring Term of 1978 should be paid to all students who entered into dorm contracts for that term because there were five fewer days of housing and food service provided.

On February 23, 1978, the University announced a change in the University calendar for Spring Term 1978 at the main campus. The University's residence halls were closed from March 5, 1978 through March 11, 1978 through March 11, 1978. The dates for the final examination period were changed from May 18-22 to May 21-24. The amounts claimed range from $29.56 to $34.56 per person, or about $350,000 total, depending upon the amount each person paid for the Housing and Food Service contract for the term.

The University denies that a refund is due. University officials contend that the sum of $8.40 was credited to each class member's general deposit account in May of 1978, and this amount represented the proper refund, if a refund was due.

"I think any fair-minded person would think that if we get 6 percent less service, we should get a 6 percent refund," said Edward D. Joseph, one of two recent alumni who won certification for the class action suit.

On Campus. . .

RANGER CLUB NEWS - During the past four weeks our Rangers have crossed raging torrents, using only a rope bridge, flown high above the crowds in Army helicopters and challenged gravity by rappelling off a sixty foot cliff, not once but twice. If you think there should be more to college than going to classes, maybe you should be a Ranger, too.

. . . Registration for Winter Term 1981 will begin Monday, December 1, 1980. Students with last names beginning with "A" and "B" will register at 8:30-9:00 a.m. All others will register afterwards until 3:45 p.m. Registration takes place on the third floor of the main building.
