To: The Faculty and Students of Penn State Delaware County Campus

The Black Student League, with the help of all faculty and students at this Campus, wishes to implement new programs which will benefit all Penn State students. The first of many of these projects will be an information program. Committees appointed by the B.S.L. will research and report informational, financial, and social events, to the members of the B.S.L. and the general student body. The Black Student League will work towards better relations between all students and faculty, and will work with all other organizations to the ends of improving student life at Penn State. The B.S.L. will also and most importantly, work towards the end for which it was designed - to foster unity and identity among black students and help develop and conduct special programs relevant to black students and their interests. With a firm commitment towards these ends, we ask for your help and your suggestions. Thank you.

Bernard A. Bozeman
 President Elect - B.S.L.

Let's Get On The Ball

In the past few years every graduating class has left some small or large token of its passing through Penn State's Delaware County Campus. Last year, trophy cases were donated by the graduating class as a marker of achievement. The previous years' total donations are as follows:

1979-80	$1,583.49
1978-79	$1,889.98
1977-78	$2,019.24
1976-77	$2,415.75
1975-76	$1,583.00
1974-75	$1,961.52

Now it's our turn to leave some great marker of success, as those who have gone before us have done. The Lion's Eye is now open to suggestions. In the next issue we will print any suggestions we receive. Leave all suggestions in the Lion's Eye mailbox.

Your Career Search: Choices Ahead

by Carl Vairo

Is it possible to find employment in today's highly competitive job market with a degree in liberal arts? Which jobs are open to liberal arts graduates? Which liberal arts majors offer the best employment opportunities?

The answer to these and other questions will be answered at the Delaware County Campus' first career day - "Your Career Search: Choices Ahead," on Wednesday, April 28, at 11 a.m., in room 112 of the Library/Learning Center.

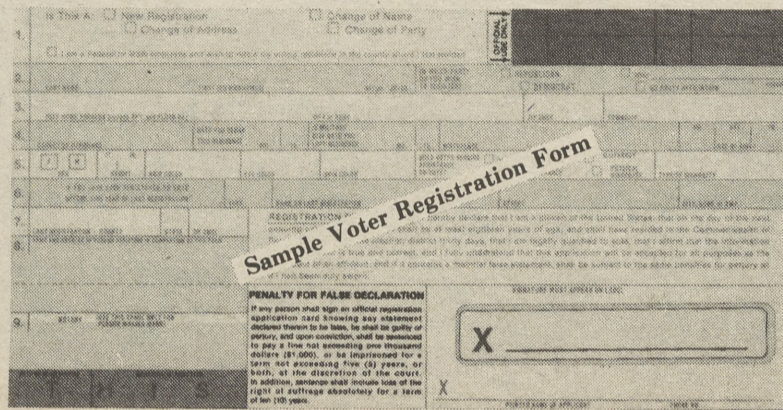

On hand will be Penn State alumni from the College of Liberal Arts who are now employed in business, social services, the legal field, government, and communications. This program is not intended exclusively for liberal arts students; ALL students can benefit from it, especially those who are unsure of their career goals, or those who are considering a change of major.

Students who attend will be given the opportunity to ask questions about the occupations of their interest and learn first-hand about the proper background needed to obtain specific career goals. An important part of the career decision-making process is obtaining accurate information about occupations. So take advantage of this opportunity and attend; you owe it to yourself and to the alumni speakers who are taking time out of their busy schedules to meet with you. This program is being sponsored by the College of the Liberal Arts and the Career Development and Placement Center. Look for more information about Career Day in the next edition of the Lion's Eye.

It's time for more protest...

In recent years, minority opinion has been expressed and demonstrated in both violent and nonviolent means. Examples of this would be the peace marches of the 1960s and the even more recent Miami riots. Violent protest can never be condoned by any organization or government. But nevertheless protest which are non-violent must be used to insure that the feelings of the suppressed or displeased are known by the general public and to insure that injustices are corrected.

Recently a campaign to correct the discriminating policies of Coca Cola (Phila. Distributing Bureau) has been launched in Philadelphia and surrounding areas. The following figures demonstrate this trend of Coca Cola: 1. 650 employees of which 8% are black; 2. Only 1 black in managers position; 3. And less than one tenth of one percent of its outside needs are done with blacks. The Black Student League is asking for nonviolent protest against these practices, and requests that the students do not purchase Coca Cola or these related products: Fresca, Tab, Sprite, Mr. Pibb, Mello Yellow, Fanta beverages, Dr. Pepper, Hi-C, Sunny Delight, Florida Citrus Punch, Sunny Delight Concord Grape Punch, Manischewitz, Lipton Tea, Welches and Canada Dry Brand soft drinks.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

Transfer Program

Are you transferring to University Park this fall? If so, this experience could be a very frustrating one. Students describe the transfer as overwhelming, exciting, lonely, sometimes a feeling of being lost in the crowd, not sure where to go, or who to talk to. These are only some of the terms used to describe the transfer experience.

To make your transition an easier and more pleasant experience, the office of Student Affairs will present a Transfer Program on April 16 (Friday) 12:15 in room 101.

The program will involve a University Park student (former Delaware County Campus student), a slide/tape show about University Park, literature, and a great deal of information about life at University Park. Information about classroom buildings, fraternities and sororities, counseling, student government, housing and recreation, and more. Materials are limited and will be distributed on a "first come, first served" basis.
