

SGA To Thank Campus Clubs

by Jill Rhodes

December 19 will mark the occasion when the SGA expresses its appreciation to all the clubs on campus by hosting a Holiday Party. SGA President Chuck McCarthy wants to "thank the clubs for all the hard work they have done this semester. Many clubs have been very active, and we believe that a pat on the back is the least we can give them."

The SGA will provide food and decorations for the bash, which will be held in the Lion's Den. A holiday tree will be put up and decorated by the clubs.

Members of the clubs have signed up for a Pollyanna and anxiously wait to find out the identity of their "Secret Santa." It will be a great party and a wonderful gift to the people who have given this semester their all!

Tammy Zampagna and SGA officers offer a variety of sweets at their recent bake sale.

'Marathon For Meals' Needs Help

by Jennifer Darr

WYSP's Marathon for Meals is a non-perishable food drive that benefits Philadelphia's homeless. Air personality Andre Gardner has taken up a vigil in an RV next to a semi-trailer in the Adams Mark Hotel parking lot at City Line and Monument Avenues.

WYSP is asking you for non-perishable food donations. Andre and the RV will be there until the semi-trailer is full of food.

Gardner is broadcasting his airshift (6PM-10PM) live from the trailer, as well as round-the-clock reports soliciting food donations from WYSP listeners. He is featuring many special guests, including rock star Joe Walsh and Keith Jackson from the Eagles.

Last year Gardner lived in his RV for fourteen straight days. During that time three truck-loads of food were collected for Philadelphia's homeless.

"The response was so great last year," Gardner said. "Philadelphia has always come through when it counts."

So raid your pantries, Delco, and help out a good cause!

Library Celebrates By Naming 10 Winners

Did you enter the library's recent "Guess the Circulation" contest? It was run as part of the on-going celebration of the facility's tenth anniversary and offered a prize to whomever came closest to guessing the number of items the library has circulated since moving into its present building.

James Isabella was one of many who entered the contest. But his guess of 216,001 items turned out to be the winner, even though it was off by 43,576! Still, Isabella collected his $10 certificate prize. And, apparently, he was not the only contestant to over-estimate the actual circulation figure of 117,425. Some estimates were as high as three million!

Isabella's award-winning guess was announced at the library's Birthday Bash on November 26, the actual date of its opening as a separate facility ten years ago.

Nine other prize winners won $10 certificates to the campus bookstore that day, sometimes simply for being at the right place at the right time. The categories awarded prizes on November 26 and their winners include:

Tenth Student to Come Into the Library
Anthony Gueriera

Tenth Faculty or Staff Member to Come Into the Library
Andy Kearney

Tenth Student to Check Out a Book
Merideth Burke

Tenth Student to Check Out a Reserve Item
Walter Lee

Tenth Student to Ask for Reference Help
Regina Rouse

Tenth Person to Come in After 5PM
Matt Lucenko

Lottery of Student Names on Reading Teams
Peter Reppetti

Lottery of Faculty/Staff on Reading Teams
Waverly Coleman

Lottery of Library Users After 5 PM
Rich McCarron

If you're disappointed that you didn't win a prize, then stop by the library and pick up a consolation bookmark at the circulation desk. And while you're there, enjoy the "Variation on 10" art exhibit prepared by the Art 110 class. It will be on display through the middle of the month.

A Snowy Owl For Your Best Pal

The holiday season is quickly approaching and once again the search for the ultimate gift is on. Rather than give the same old boring tie or fruit cake this year, why not give a llama to your mama or a boa constrictor to your main squeeze?

The Philadelphia Zoo's ADOPT (Animals Depend On People Too) Program is an exciting, enriching and excellent way to help care for our wildlife. For as little as $25.00 and up to $2,500, ADOPT parents will be able to enjoy the satisfaction of knowing their favorite animal is getting everything it needs in its home at the zoo.

With over 1,600 different ADOPT animals to choose from, a child friend or spouse will receive:

- 1) An official "Certificate of ADOPTION"
- 2) Animal Fact sheets that contain important information
- 2) Two issues of the "Inside ADOPT" newsletter
- 4) A personal invitation to the exclusive annual ADOPT Parents Recognition Day celebration
- 5) A beautiful 8x10 photograph of the ADOPTed animal with donations of $100 or more.

So make this year's present a unique one, one that includes a whole lot of fun and gives a loved one the satisfaction of helping a special animal stay happy and healthy at America's First Zoo.

For more information, contact Mary Heider at (215) 243-1100, extension 331.

Chamber Orch. Offers 'Colonial Christmas'

On Saturday, December 15, 1990 at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m., Concerto Soloists Chamber Orchestra of Philadelphia will celebrate "A Colonial Christmas" with a concert at the Old Pine Street Church, 4th & Pine Streets.

This festive and delightful concert, performed by candlelight, will feature the Concerto Soloists and the Singing Boys of Pennsylvania, conducted by Marc Mostovoy and Bernard Shade. To celebrate Christmas and Chanukah, Concerto Soloists will perform some of your favorite selections including segments from Handel's Messiah and Judas Maccabeus. Special arrangements of Silent Night, Greensleeves (with harp) and Leopold Mozart's Sleigh Ride, performed by the Singing Boys of Pennsylvania playing toy instruments, will be featured.

Benjamin Franklin (Howard Quick) will take you back to Christmas Day, 1776 as he describes the famous "Battle of Trenton," written by James Hewitt, and performs on his glass harmonica. Mrs. Franklin will make a brief appearance too! This warm and memorable concert for the entire family will end with a holiday sing-a-long.

Tickets for "A Colonial Christmas" are on sale now at the Walnut Street Theatre Box Office, 9th and Walnut Streets or by calling (215) 574-3550. Tickets for the 4 p.m. final dress rehearsal are $5. Tickets for the 8 p.m. concert are $9 including a reception following the performance. (Students and children pay only $5!) For more information call (215) 574-3550.
