

BSL Plans Numerous Activities for April

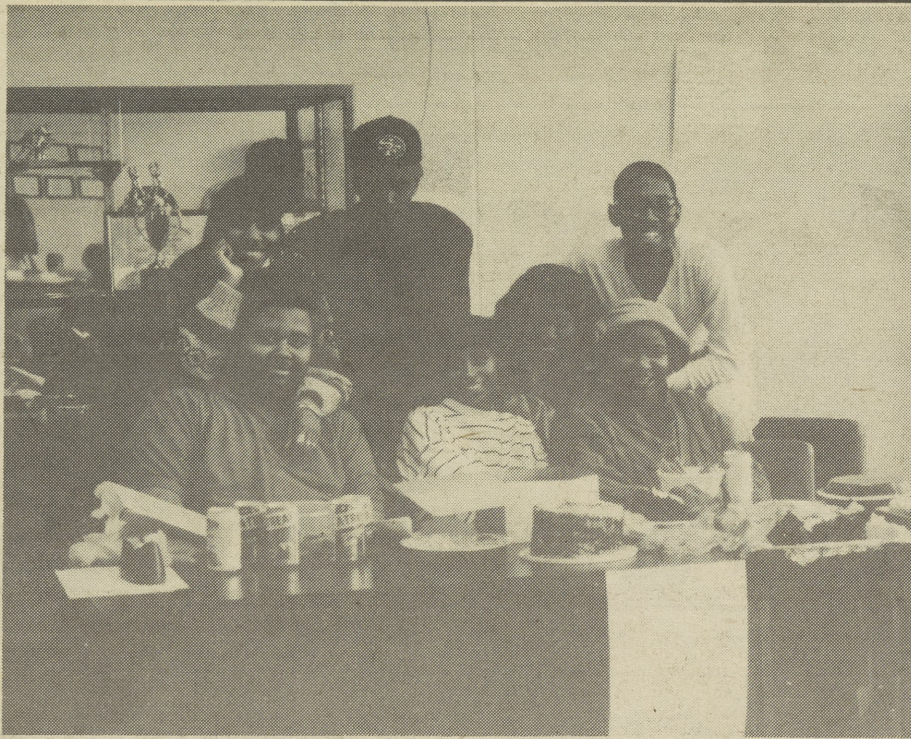

by Genice S. Cook

For the student body in general and the Black Student League in particular, Ms. Beverly Lindsey and Ms. Tammy Zampogna made Black History Month an unforgettable experience. On the 6th of February, the Black Student League sponsored a black history show which featured music, drama, and comedy. Also Mr. Daniel Black, doctorate candidate at Temple University, sang and read from different works about black culture and their traditions. On the 18th of February, Charlotte Alston told African stories, and on the 19th Professor Valeria spoke on higher education.

The BSL is now busy making plans for the rest of the semester. Try not to miss the following upcoming events:

- April 1 - Lion's Dance
- April 3 - Lecture on where and what is Asia
- April 5 - Cram & Jam

In addition, there is a party planned with Cheyney, Lincoln, and West Chester Universities Black Student Leagues. Details will be announced.

Successful EXHIBIT 91 Endows Campus Fund

EXHIBIT 91, the art show and sale which was mounted in Delco's gym over Spring Break, was a highly successful first-time endeavor for the campus, according to the creator and coordinator, Dr. Jane Cooper, Associate Professor of Biology.

"What we harvested in terms of credibility in the community through the quality of show will benefit us for years to come," she explained.

The eight-day show for the benefit of the Tim Mark Endowment Fund, grossed $19,000 in sales, with $12,100 of that going to the artists and the rest to the endowment fund.

Although much of the net will go toward meeting one-time expenses for the show, such as the panels on which the art was hung, and to advertising and overhead expenses, the endowment fund is expected to benefit from the show in a number of ways.

One way is through the campus' commitment to the exhibit for the next few years.

"I'm enthusiastic about next year," Dr. Cooper said. I have a lot of ideas. And basically, I think it's a good way for the campus to interact with the community. Those who came were impressed with the uniformly high calibre of the art work and then went home and told their friends. So we have built a good reputation with this first effort."

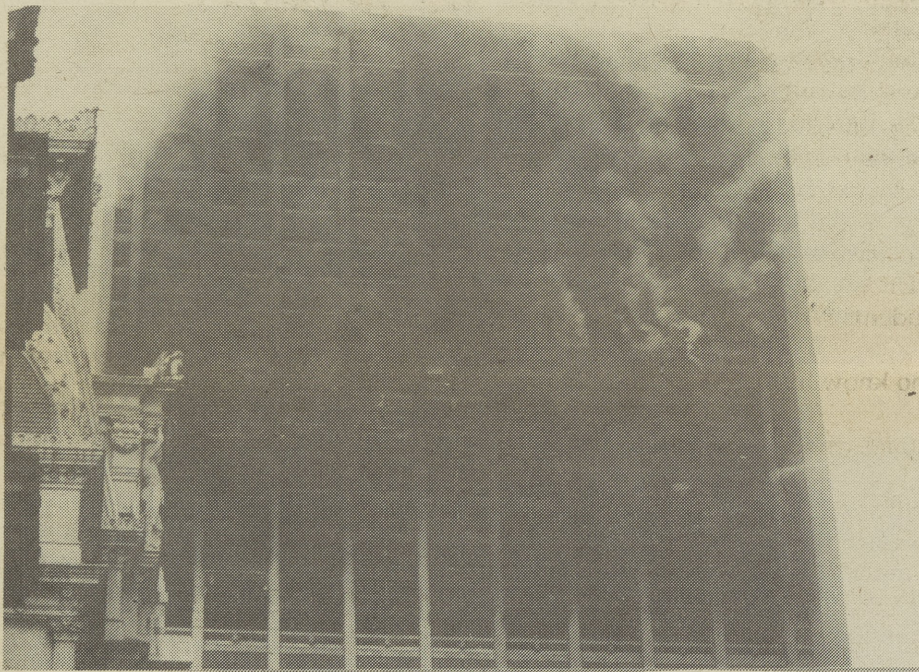

Dr. Cooper also mentioned the excellent support for the exhibit from Joe Biscontini, Campus Public Relations Officer, and the strong assistance from Marianne Rhodes, Publicity Office and from Alex Pendragon, Development Office, as well as from faculty, staff, and students who helped with and supported the show.

EXHIBIT 92 will be mounted next year during Spring Break. Mark your calendar.

Activities Awards Banquet Scheduled For Media Inn

by Pat McAdams

The 1991 Student Government Association Awards Ceremony is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight on Friday night, April 26, at the Media Inn. "Student government leaders hope to take this opportunity to formally extend our appreciation to staff and faculty for their support to all of us throughout this past year," said Chuck McCarthy, president of the SGA.

McCarthy noted that a number of awards will be distributed during this ceremony, including those which recognize outstanding service to the Penn State campus and the community. Student government leaders for the 1991-1992 school year will be introduced, and clubs will be giving out individual awards as well.

A buffet dinner will be served at the Awards Ceremony. Invitations have been sent to faculty, staff and students, so be sure to mark your calendar now. We hope you can come. Please make your reservation as soon as possible
