Defibrillators available on campus

There will be automatic external defibrillators (AEDs) located on campus, according to Barb Rostick, professor of kinesiology.

The devices will be used in case of an emergency when someone's heart stops beating. People who use them must be CPR certified, because this technique must be used before an AED.

The AED also has built-in voice-activated instructions to guide any user.

There will be two AEDs on campus, one in the Commons building near the gym and one in the security office in the Main building. Students looking to get certified in CPR and interested in learning more about AEDs on campus contact Barb Rostick (BAR15@psu.edu) in the Commons building or Dave Horevay of campus security on the ground floor of the Main Building.

Rostick also teaches a kinesiology class (Kins13) in which students can get CPR certification through the Red Cross.

Provost visits Delco campus

Penn State University Provost Dr. Rodney Erickson will be meeting with students and student leaders of the Delaware County campus Wednesday, Nov. 3 to share information and hear from the student body.

He will be accompanied by Dr. Diane Disney, dean of the Commonwealth College; Dr. Cheryl Glenn, administrative fellow to the Provost; and Monica Nachman, administrative assistant to the provost.

The meeting will take place from 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. in Room 203 of the Commons building.

Students are urged to attend.

New ID cards can be picked up

Effective yesterday, your new Penn State ID card was waiting for you at the Vairo Library front desk.

Bring your current card or your driver's license or some other form of photo ID and you can get your new University ID card. (There will be no new cards for persons graduating in December 2004.)

All students, faculty and staff can pick up their cards at their convenience. You need not wait in a line, the card will not be needed and cannot be used, before Dec. 20. However, if you pick up the new card prior to 5 p.m., Nov. 5, you will be entered into a University-wide raffle. There are about 25 prizes which include: a PDA, an MP3/walkman, a blanket, a sweatshirt, a football jersey, a quartz clock, a back pack, CD wallet, and T-shirts.

Business administration degree on tap

Changes to the bachelor of science in business offered at Penn State Delco will be effective in the fall of 2005. The updated degree, which will be known as the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, requires all incoming freshmen to have taken a half-unit of trigonometry in high school. Aside from course pre-requisites, the only requirement for entrance is a 2.0 GPA.

Students who choose to work toward this major will be required to take Math 110. They will also have the choice to take one of two 18-credit options, marketing, or management, which prior to the fall of 2005 are only jointly offered as one option.

The individualized option, however, will no longer be available. Additionally, the internship for this major will only be offered through an elective course.
