Stacey Shapiro, LCSW

Healthy Steps to Wellness

for the Penn State Community

Dear Campus Community:

Welcome back! The next few weeks will take some time for yourselves and the students to get adjusted to the hectic schedule. Feelings of being overwhelmed are to be expected. If any of your students are experiencing other feelings or situations interfering with their ability to perform academically counseling is a great resource. Did you know there is FREE mental health counseling on our campus for students? The following are some of the various reasons students come to counseling:

- Time Management
- Depression
- Anxiety
- Substance Abuse
- Stress Management
- Relationships
- Support and guidance

Counseling with Stacey Shapiro is offered on Monday from 9-5. If you know a student who wants to make a counseling appointment call Dale Soring in the student affairs office at 610-892-1270 (the student affairs department is on the 2nd floor in the Commons Building). If you have any questions feel free to contact Stacey Shapiro directly via email at slb38@psu.edu. Thank you.
