Pink Floyd Australia

On October 23, 2009 Pink Floyd Australia performed at the Tower theatre in Upper Darby, as they do every fall. Everyone was on the edge of his or her seat as the first song "Money" started to play yet no band could be seen.

The audience couldn't have been happier as the lights flickered and the band appeared. With the vocals of Damian Darlington and Ian Cattell and the backing vocals of Amy Smith, Ola Bienkowska and Jacquie Williams, added in with Paul Bonney on the drums made the music flow just as it would with the real Pink Floyd.

The light show in itself was incredible to set the mood for each and every song played by the talented musicians. The audience sent their feedback with clapping, singing and dancing which, at the end of the night, forced the band to provide an encore.

With the closing song being "Comfortably Numb" the night ended with the utmost satisfaction resting in each person that had attended. For more information about the band and their tour dates visit www.aussiefloyd.com.
