

Eye on Entertainment

TEST YOUR BRAIN WITH SUDOKU

4				9	5
	1	9	4		7
		3		5	1
3				4			1
7	8						6
		1			6	4	2
	3	5					2
	4		9			1	6
				8

GOSSIP GIRL

Gossip Girl Here....

Well, as you know, I haven't been gossiping lately. Well, that's about to change drastically.

Lately, I've been on the lookout for spring 2010 clothing trends, especially since the weather is going to great! This season, the super mini skirt, bright and tight, is the must have for a woman! I went on Forever 21.com and found thousands upon thousands of skirts! Believe me, you don't want to be the odd man out. But for those of you, like me, who believe in quality verses quantity, then Bebe and Arden B is your place to shop! I'm a firm believer in mixing and matching. My number one rule is jeans go with everything! You can wear stiletto heels, boot heels, thigh high heels, or flats with a nice pair of rockin jeans; I recommend Express for jeans.

Now, I have huge gossip about a women's best friend,

SHOES! Like everyone, I watch the Kardashian Show and immediately feel in love with every pair of heel or scandal that are on their little feet. Well, our lovely Kim Kardashian started her own shoe line called Shoedazzle. Shoedazzle is an inexpensive online palace of shoes, inmy eyes. It's a membership only club and with this you take a survey and pick what shoe you want deliver to your house! How easy is that! Well, it's $40.00 a month but the catch is, if you don't want to buy a pair of shoes one month, you just contact their customer service and they will take you off. The great part is you don't get charged unless you choose a pair of shoes and if you don't like the pair then you can send them back and choose another pair! The website is www.shoedazzle.com. Check it out!

Well, that's enough gossip for me see you next week!

Dear Blu

Dear Blu,

I am about to graduate from Penn State and I just found out that I am pregnant. The father of my child left me and I don't want to raise this child alone. Is it wrong to not want it? I haven't told anyone, because they would just judge me. None of my friends liked my ex, and my parents would be disappointed. Should I tell anyone? Would it be wrong to have an abortion?
-Anonymous & Single

Dear Anonymous & Single,

Wow. First, congrats on graduating, I know that must feel great! Okay I have to be honest with you, like you're being with me. I never been preggers (I emailed her about what this word is - I'll let you know when she gets back to me, unless whoever is editing this knows haha) before, but could imagine it is a scary road to travel alone. Not wanting to raise a child by yourself is a normal feeling....I know I wouldn't want to raise one on my own...it's hard. But I know plenty of women doing it and making it every day. I definitely think you should tell someone. If your friends are truly friends, then they will stand by your side and back you on whatever decision you chose to make. Tell your family, they should be your support system, I'm sure they love you and will support whatever decision you'll make. Lastly, I want to point out that there are other options to abortions, such as adoption. I suggest doing research about the matter to help you decide what's best for both you and your unborn child.

-Your friend Blu

Official Facebook page, Twitter feed Keeping Penn Staters Connected

Special To The Lion's Eye

Penn Staters around the world can join the fast-growing online community staying connected to the University and fellow Nittany Lions as fans of the official Penn State page on Facebook and followers of the official University Twitter feed.

The University's official page on Facebook, at www.facebook.com/pennstate, is a hub of daily activity, featuring photos, videos, contests, news, trivia and answers to fan questions, along with discussions among fans and Penn State staff. With more than 93,000 fans as of early March, the page, launched in June 2009, is set to become just the fourth official college or university page to top 100,000 fans, according to statistics compiled by varsityoutreach.com.

More than 6,000 people are already following the Penn State Twitter feed at www.twitter.com/pennstatelive. The feed provides the top news of the day from the University to keep Penn Staters connected in fewer than 140 characters.

twitter

Penn State's official Facebook page and Twitter feed are keeping Nittany Lions around the world plugged in to the University. (Photo courtesy Twitter and Facebook)

PENN STATE'S PHILHARMONIC TO PERFORM MARCH 22 AT PENN STATE YORK

Special To The Lion's Eye

Penn State's Philharmonic Orchestra takes to the stage at Penn State York's Pullo Family Performing Arts Center (The Pullo Center) at 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 22. Ticket prices are $10, and are on sale now. Tickets can be purchased at The Pullo Center Box Office and at www.pullocenter.yk.psu.edu or charge by phone at (717) 505-8900. The concert is the last one the group will perform before heading to Carnegie Hall for the annual President's Concert on March 24.

This performance includes the Overture to the Creole "Faust" by Alberto Ginastera, one of Latin America's most important composers; The Pines of Rome, a dramatic programmatic piece written in 1922 scored for large orchestra that portrays the pines at four of the city's historic locations at varying times of the day; and the Symphony No. 3 by Sergei Rachmaninov, the last great representative of the Russian romantic tradition. The Penn State Philharmonic also will perform this program Wednesday, March 24 at Carnegie Hall in New York.

The Penn State Philharmonic is one of three orchestras that comprise the orchestral studies program at the Penn State School of Music. The 90-member orchestra has performed throughout the northeastern United States, including concerts at Pittsburgh's Heinz Hall, Philadelphia's Kimmel Center, and the MENC Eastern Division Conference in Baltimore. In March 2006, the orchestra participated by invitation in the Sixth International Orchestra Festival in Zaragoza, Spain. The Philharmonic's repertoire from recent years has included works by Brahms, Debussy, Dvorak, Stravinsky, Beethoven, Mahler, Vaughn Williams, Rachmaninoff, and Wagner.

Puzzle Solution

4	3	7	5	8	9	2	6	1
5	9	1	3	2	6	7	4	8
2	6	8	4	1	5	3	9	7
8	2	4	9	7	3	1	5	6
9	5	3	2	6	1	4	8	7
7	1	1	6	8	5	9	2	3
6	4	9	5	1	8	3	7	2
3	8	5	7	2	4	6	1	9
1	7	1	3	9	2	8	5	4