

Eye on Entertainment

Hot Tub Time Machine Review

By Cait Hazinsky - Lion's Eye Staff Writer- ceh5240@psu.edu

With all the new movies coming out into theaters right now there are only a few comedies. One of those comedies is Hot Tub Time Machine. This movie is generally not worth spending ten dollars on, but it may be worth it to a few of you. The one good thing about this movie was the director did not try and hide the fact that the plot was awful. The times where the characters looked directly at the screen made for some funny comic relief that may have made the movie a little funny.

Hot Tub Time Machine had some pretty funny parts, granted they may have been funny because of the actors themselves (not necessarily what they were saying). For example, Rob Corddry is one of the main characters and if you have ever seen any other movies that he is in (What Happens in Vegas, Blades of Glory, or Failure to Launch) then you already have a pre-existing thought that he is shameless and will do anything to get a laugh.

In my opinion, the majority of scenes that were funny had him and Craig Robinson (Pineapple Express) in them. But even with these two funny actors, the funny parts were scarce; unless you are someone who enjoys a stupid movie with a few funny parts.

I consider myself to be the target audience mainly because I love everything and it is rare that I see a movie and do not carry out the appropriate emotion; however, Hot Tub Time Machine is not a movie that I would ever waste my time with again. There were parts I found to be hilarious but I can literally count them on my one hand (and they probably won't take up all five fingers). My boyfriend is more of a tough audience, and usually we disagree about the movies we see together. This was the first movie that we have seen in a while that we both agreed was not really worth the trip to the movie theater.

Like I said before, this movie may be some people's cup of tea, but in my opinion I did not enjoy it. If you are looking for a mindless movie to bid some time, this is just the movie to see—there is literally no thought needed. The plot (or lack there of) is simple, the characters are typical to this genre, and the time span is relatively short. For those who feel that Hot Tub Time Machine is a movie for them, enjoy! For the rest of you,

Not-So-Infinite Playlist

By Caitlin Olszewski -

Lion's Eye Entertainment Editor- coo5024@psu.edu

1. "Polythene Pam" – The Beatles
2. "No Bones" - Dinosaur Jr.
3. "Peace Frog" - The Doors
4. "Casual Sex" – The Faint
5. "Tales of Brave Ulysses" – Cream
6. "Cause=Time"- Broken Social Scene
7. "One More Robot" - The Flaming Lips
8. "Turn It On"- Franz Ferdinand
9. "100°" – Shout Out Louds
10. "Baby's Gonna Die Tonight" - Adam Green

Photo courtesy of wordpress.com

Horoscopes

By Ashley Carpenter - Lion's Eye Staff Writer
anc148@psu.edu

Photo courtesy of <http://annolastrologers.blinkweb.com>

Aries: Ram, you often lose sight of your responsibilities in your quest for fun and excitement. Your conscientious side will kick in this week and you'll tend to your tasks and chores, starting when the Sun in Aries is quincunx Saturn on Monday. You may slip and suffer an accident on Thursday if you don't pay close attention to your actions. Your ability to express yourself will increase on Sunday. You'll hear from a school friend with whom you lost touch.

Taurus: Happy birthday, Bull! It's time to celebrate this week as the radiant Sun enters Taurus on Tuesday. You'll discover the spotlight is firmly on you and you alone. Make sure to treat yourself to a special present. You'll be ready for fun on Friday, and you may learn a new sport. You'll find it easy to get moving when Venus, your ruler, enters lively Gemini on Sunday. Your energy will be in high gear and you'll rush around more than usual.

Gemini: Listen to your inner voice this week, Gemini, and pay attention to your sixth sense. The Moon in Gemini trines intuitive Neptune on Monday and you'll have a flash of insight regarding a tricky situation you're dealing with. You'll be in reflective mode on Tuesday and need some alone time for a while. You'll find it hard to find the right words when your ruler, Mercury, currently retrograde, squares Mars on Sunday. Rehearse what you want to say before you speak.

Cancer: Cancer, you have a canny ability to size up the people you interact with, thanks to your perceptive ruler, the Moon. On Monday you'll be able to spot any tricksters that come your way. Don't take anyone you meet at face value. You'll assess your hopes and dreams when the Sun enters your sector of what you wish for on Tuesday. You'll join a new group on Saturday and kick your social life up a notch. Mix and mingle this weekend.

Leo: You'll become a bit of a worrier this week, Lion! Your ruler, the Sun, is quincunx stern Saturn on Monday, and you'll begin to fret more than usual about your life. Remember to not let fear rule you and your life. On Thursday your emotions will be triggered when you encounter an associate you tangled with in the past. You still harbor resentment toward this person, so give yourself permission to vent your feelings and then move on to other matters.

Virgo: You'll be rather unsettled this week. The Moon in scattered Gemini squares Saturn in Virgo on Monday and you'll be unable to chart the right course of action in a complicated situation in your life. Sort and sift through all your options before you come to a conclusion. Legal matters are favored on Friday, and your persistence will pay off in a court case. Check all of your text messages and e-mails before you hit the send button on Sunday.

Libra: Be careful of your actions this week, Libra, especially on Monday. Don't text message or chat on your cell phone while you're driving or walking across a busy street. You will find it hard to be realistic when your ruler, Venus, squares nebulous Neptune on Friday. You won't take a practical view of your life circumstances, so it might be a good idea to leave problem solving for a later time. On Sunday your sense of positive optimism will return.

Scorpio: Don't ignore your well-being this week, Scorpio. On Monday you'll notice an ailment isn't getting better. Consider consulting your doctor about any health issues. Your vitality will sag a bit when the Sun enters ponderous Taurus opposite your Zodiac Sign on Tuesday. You'll need extra rest, so try to get plenty of sleep. You will contact a former associate on Saturday. Your companion has changed since you last saw him or her, so be prepared for quite a few surprises.

Sagittarius: Sagittarius, you're usually very blunt and forthright. That's fine, but you also need to consider the social niceties as you interact with others. On Monday you may unwittingly offend an associate. You'll decide to jazz up your regular routine on Tuesday. You may try a new hobby or enroll in an exercise class. Clear a place on your mantel this weekend!

Capricorn: Capricorn, remind yourself to let sleeping dogs lie this week. Don't meddle in a matter that isn't in your own best interests on Monday. You'll find the courage to stand up for yourself and your own ideas when Venus sextiles daring Uranus in your self-expression sector on Friday. You know you have the right to live your life the way you choose. You'll need to help a family member on Sunday. Get ready to provide a shoulder to lean on!

Aquarius: Your sense of direction will definitely be skewed this week, Aquarius! The Moon in scattered Gemini squares erratic and unpredictable Uranus, your ruling planet, on Monday and you'll feel discombobulated as you go about your day. Your domestic side will kick in when the Sun enters your home zone on Tuesday. You'll feel the urge to stay in your own backyard for a change.

Pisces: Intuitive Neptune is your ruler, Pisces, and usually you pick up easily on the vibrations around you. On Monday your sixth sense will be especially strong. Pay attention to your hunches. You'll certainly receive a lot of attention when dazzling Venus sextiles bold Uranus in Pisces in your sector of self on Friday. You may discover that you're the flavor of the week! Your wires will be crossed when you attempt to get in touch with a friend on Sunday.

Courtesy of www.horoscopes.com