Horoscopes

By Kelly Crawford- Lion's Eye Entertainment Editor - kmc5368@psu.edu

Aries March 21 to April 19

While the week begins with a lot of focus on your professional game, with the Moon in your career sector just as Venus is spending her final few days here, this is going to ease back as the week progresses. The North Node leaves your career sector on Friday, with the professional flame that has kept you firing on all cylinders likely to ease right back. Don't be surprised if this creates an anticlimax or if it sees your energy levels and motivation plummet

Taurus April 20 to May 20

Some very fast and furious weeks on the professional front have eased back considerably, as the focus shifts more to social, personal and professional networking this week. Yet this is likely to have done nothing to slow down your professional momentum, which if anything has moved into overdrive. It was Mars' departure from your career sector last Wednesday that left Neptune, planet of dreams and fantasies on his own, giving your professional dreams a chance to rebound.

Gemini May 21 to June 20

As you move into the new week you're greeted by powerful forces on the financial and professional fronts but also by a very confusing sense of wanderlust. With the Moon in your financial sector, ahead of Venus' departure on Wednesday, you're moving into the week financially motivated, busy defining your financial objectives and direction. At the same time Mercury and Mars are both spending their first full week in your career sector and buoyed on by the support they have, your competitive drives are moving into overdrive.

Cancer June 21 to July 22

Move into your week without any preconceived perceptions keeping your mind, your heart and your options open. While things are about to take off on the professional front, the ball won't really start rolling until the North Node moves into your work sector on Friday and won't really take off until next week. This gives you time to focus on your relationships and your financial situation this week, but also to embrace a sense of freedom, taking the time to go off script and answer the call of the wild or the spirit of adventure

Leo July 23- August 22

All eyes are on your financial and work situation at the start of the week as they fight for your attention. While forces on the financial front seem to outnumber forces on the work front, with the Moon in your work sector until Tuesday, this is where the most weight is at the start of the week. With Venus leaving your work sector on Wednesday and the North Node on Friday, even without the Moon this would have created an urgent need to define your desires, objectives and the path things will take

Virgo August 23 to September 22

An important week on the personal front, with Mercury and Mars spending their first full week in your relationship sector and Venus, planet of love due to leave your romantic sector on Wednesday, should see your work life suffer or come off second best, but the opposite is likely to be true. Mercury and Mars are kicking off a new relationship chapter, with a chance to put the past behind you and move on, especially with a New Moon on Saturday.

Libra September 23 to October 22

It's said that the key to life is balance, but if cosmic forces aren't playing ball that's easier said than done. This is one week when the cosmic forces are playing ball, with finding that right balance a lot easier than it has been. At the same time that Mercury and Mars are spending their first full week in your work sector, ahead of a New Moon on Saturday, a new sense of confidence and momentum is falling into play on the job front.

Scorpio October 23 to November 21

With things about to take off in a major way on the work front from next week, the key this week is balance. As Jupiter, planet of luck spends his last full week on his own in your work sector, ahead of Mercury and Uranus' arrival next week, he's providing the right mix of confidence and lack of pressure or urgency but not for long. It's the North Node's return to your income sector on Friday that is likely to provide the right motivation at the right time.

Sagittarius November 22 to December 21

All eyes are on your home and family situation at the start of the week, as Mercury and Mars spend their first full week in your home and family sector, ahead of a New Moon on Saturday. With things about to take off on the romantic, creative and personal fronts from next week and life becoming a lot more work focused from later in April onwards, this gives you a chance to make sure that the home fires are burning brightly. There is also a lot of financial focus at the start of the week, with the Moon visiting your income sector just days before both Venus and the North Node are due to leave.

Capricorn December 22 to January 19

Your new solar and calendar year may be well underway, but until Venus leaves your sign on Wednesday and the North Node on Friday you're still not ready to make a firm commitment to the future. It's in Venus' final few days in your sign that she's joined by the Moon, with their alignment on Tuesday giving you a clearer read on what you want from the future than you'll ever get. By the time the North Node leaves your sign on Friday you need to be ready to make a commitment to the future.

Aquarius January 20 to February 18

In a week where there are a lot of shifts, with forces that have been prominent dropping back and forces that have been working behind the scenes moving forward, it's important to listen to your imagination and to let your wildest dreams run wild. This is an important week for matters on the income and work fronts, with income forces coming to the fore ahead of a New Moon on Saturday and work forces easing off from Friday, but you also need to be a dreamer.

Pisces February 19 to March 20

As Mercury and Mars spend their first full week in your sign you're once again ready to take on the world, with your energy, drives and enthusiasm back. You've once again got that spring in your step and at the start of a new solar year you're looking ahead. It's a New Moon in your sign on Saturday that gives you a chance to make a commitment to the future, at a time when you're feeling a lot more confident and optimistic
