When buying a wool suit, will it be woolen or worsted? The difference between the two is in the length of the fiber used in the fabric, explains Mrs. Mae B. Barton, extension clothing specialist of the Pennsylvania State University.

Worsteds are made of long wool fibers, combed so the fibers lie parallel, and twisted into strands called ply. Two or more piles are then twisted together to make the yarn for the material. These yarns are even, strong, and firm.

Woolens are made of shorter fibers which aren't combed but are criss-crossed in the yarn. Sturdy woolen yarns are two-ply and more tightly twisted than the common woolen one-ply yarn. Fabric made from woolen yarns may be rough, nubby, or napped

When ready to use, the frozen block may be brushed with butter and baked in a moderate oven or squash may be heated in a double boiler.

Rambling With The Sage of Ant Hill

The Soviet Embassy was the scene of a musical and reception last Thursday evening when Ambassador Zoroubin entertained in honor of the Russian pianist, Emile Gilels, Justice and Mrs. William O. Douglas headed the list of United States representatives while Chief of Protocol, John Farr Simmons, represented the Department of State. Old timers say it was the first formal affair since World War II and the first strictly cultural since 1921. Must be that Russian "new-look" asserting itself.

The Nation's Capital played host to Admiral and Lady Mountbatten who are on a two week visit to America. While the Admiral stated the visit was one of routine business, it got off on a successful social basis with a reception attended by many of the naval military group.

November 1 marks the ninety-first anniversary of the establishment by the Post Office Department of the postal money order system. During the first eight months of operation money orders totaling $400,000 were sold. This year the total will be approximately $6,000,000,000. During the ninety years of operation regulations have been changed, the maximum amount of a money order having been increased and the safety factor has likewise increased.

Buildings adjoining the headquarters of the National Rifle Association are in the process of being demolished. The association plans the erection of a modern office and exhibit building for its own use on the site at 16th Street and Rhode Island Avenue, N. W.

Not all governmental departments or agencies cost the taxpayers money. Federal Housing Commissioner Mason recently announced that reserve funds backing up FHA's loan insurance programs increased by nearly $64,000,000 during the fiscal year ended last June 30. Total reserves had risen to $417,900,000 by that date. The increase represents $71,000,000 in net earning from operations for the year, less $7,200,000 in earnings distributed as participation payments from FHA's Mutual Mortgage Insurance Fund to eligible mortgagors as provided by law. Since July 1940, all FHA operating expenses have been paid out of income.

There are several other agencies in the same category but, when appropriation time comes around, Congress loses sight of the money-making agencies and treats all departments alike.

President Castillo Armas and his wife, of Guatemala, will arrive in Washington on Monday. They will be welcomed by Vice President Nixon and will be presented with the traditional key to the city. The visit will include wreath laying ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and a trip to Mt. Vernon as well as social activities. President Armas will receive an honorary degree from Georgetown University.

Two Fire Calls In Day; Meeting Is Interrupted

Two fire calls—one during the meeting of the Quarryville Fire Company and its auxiliary—provided a busy day Monday for the Volunteer group.

while the two groups were in business session, a call came from Fairfield, where a small frame building used as a playhouse was destroyed on the property of Andrew Ginderman.

The 10 by 12 building was formerly a brooder house, but recently converted into a playhouse for the children. Loss was estimated at $150. Bad wiring was believed to be the cause.

Earlier Monday, the department was called to the farm home of John W. Winters, Peach Bottom R1, just south of New Texas on 222, where a bedroom closet on the second floor was damaged by fire. Mr. Winters and his hired man, Jack Snider, extinguished the blaze before the Quarryville crew arrived. Loss was estimated at $200.

The room was occupied by two of the children, John 7, and Raymond, 5. There are two other children in the family, Susan, 3, and Allan, 11 months.

After the crews returned and the business meeting wound up, Jim Burt of the Solanco High school staff and Ernie Neill, editor of Lancaster Farming, showed colored slides on Mexico Sandwiches and coffee were served after the showing.

Squash to be frozen should be firm and mature, points out Marjorie J. Wormeck, extension nutritionist of the Pennsylvania State University.

Wash squash and cut into pieces, removing the seeds. Cook pieces until soft in boiling water, steam, pressure cooker or in the oven. Remove the pulp from the rind and mash or press through a sieve.

Cool by putting the squash in refrigerator trays. Stir occasionally. Pack meal size portions into containers leaving a half-inch headspace. Seal and freeze.

Farm Women Society No 17 Meets

The November Meeting of the Farm Women's Society No 17 was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Musser, Buck, with the president, Mrs. Melvin Marron, in charge. The devotions were conducted by the hostess, followed by the roll call by the secretary, Mrs. Everett Kreider, and answered with sentence prayers of thankfulness. The members have made four scrap books for the Heart Haven, Osteopathic Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital and General Hospital in Lancaster. The gift exchange has been changed from the September to the January meeting. The literary program consisted of a poem on "Thanksgiving" by Mrs. Maude Harnish, and group singing was led by Mrs. Pearl Aument. Following this a White Elephant sale was held with Mrs. Everett Kreider auctioneer. The next meeting will be held on December 1 at the home of Mrs. Samuel Wenger, Buck, with the co-hostesses to be Mrs. Ida Eshleman, Mrs. Stanley Stauffer and Mrs. Harry P. Ankrum. After adjourning, a social time was held and refreshments served by hostesses Mrs. Musser, Mrs. Russell Lloyd and Mrs. Melvin Shenk.
