

Capons Lined Up for Judging

"Resting" Improves Roast Chicken Flavor

Roast chicken or turkey has better flavor if allowed to stand in the roasting pan 15 to 30 minutes before carving. This "resting" period allows the meat to absorb the juices, reports Helen L. Denning, Penn State extension nutrition specialist.

She suggests placing the cooked bird on a large warm platter on which carving can be done. A simple garnish is all that's needed. Too much garnish spoils the effect.

Carving is done at the table with a sharp, thin-bladed knife and a fork with a guard.

Pennsylvania RR Net Best Since 1945

In Philadelphia this week, the Pennsylvania Railroad reported its highest net income for the first ten months of a year since 1945. Income of $37,174,158 represented an increase of $21,475,122 more than the corresponding ten-month period of 1954.

October 1955's net income of $5,040,298 was the highest for the month since 1951, an increase of $1,168,501 from October, 1954.

The Navy may build atomic aircraft carrier soon.

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State University College of Agriculture.

Measure Liquid -- Set your cup on a level surface before you measure liquids for recipes. If you use a glass measuring cup, look at it on the same level to be sure the liquid comes up to the mark, reminds Louise W. Hamilton, Penn State extension nutritionist.

Hang Clothing -- A low rod and low hooks in a closet are a help for storing a young child's clothing. He can reach clothes easily and also help put them away, points out Mrs. Marguerite L. Duvall, Penn State extension family specialist.

Compliment Complexion -- If your skin is ruddy, it will be emphasized if you wear red or green. In the same way, if you have a pale complexion it will have some color reflected in it if you wear these colors, explains Bernice J. Tharp, Penn State extension clothing specialist.

Try Toast Rounds -- At your next party try toasted rounds of bread spread with chopped hard-cooked eggs and olives, moistened with mayonnaise, suggests Marjorie J. Wormeck, Penn State extension nutritionist.

Store Cookie Sheets -- Because cookie sheets are light in weight and can be picked up easily by the edge, you can store them between vertical partitions on a shelf of the wall cabinet, says Sanna D. Black, Penn State extension home management specialist.

Need Calcium -- Young folks need the calcium in milk to build good, sturdy bones. Older folks need calcium to keep their bones from becoming brittle, reports Helen L. Denning, Penn State extension nutritionist.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -- Dale Carithers of Mission San Jose, Calif., was elected president of the American Hereford Association at the annual meeting of the association in Kansas City. He succeeds J. H. Cunningham of Marshall, Va.

Stepping up into the vice presidency was Albert K. Mitchell of Albert N. M., who succeeds Mr. Carithers in that office. Retained as directors of the association were Walter M. Lewis of Larned, Kan., Earl H. Monahan of Hyannis, Neb., and Oliver M. Wallop of Big Horn, Wyo. Mr. Wallop had completed a full term as director. Mr. Lewis and Mr. Monahan had been appointed to fill out unexpired terms.

Funds Raised to Send 4-H Youth To International

Donations of business, industry and farm groups assured eight Lancaster County 4-H Club members a trip to Chicago and the National 4-H Club Congress. The group leaves today.

Sometime back, Howard Featherer, president of the Lancaster County Agricultural Council headed a drive to raise funds, sending letters asking for donations.

Others On Committee

Others helping Mr. Featherer in this campaign were Mrs. Milton Eberly, Elizabethtown, former president of the Lancaster County Society of Farm Women; Miss Ruth Kimble, County extension home economist; A. G. Bucher, farm relations representative of the Lancaster County National Bank; and Elam M. Bomberger of the Mount Joy First National Bank.

Making the trip will be the 4-H Holstein Quartet, plus four girls and boys who won first places in the Pennsylvania State 4-H Club Week in August at State College. The four winners are Ailene Hersey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elam Heisey, Mount Joy; Wayne Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, Mount Joy; Audrey Musser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Musser, Mount Joy; and Walter Augsburger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Augsberger, Reinholds R1 Reinholds.

Chaperones Are Listed

Members of the 4-H Holstein Quartet from Lancaster County who will also attend the huge Chicago Congress are John D. Stoner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stoner, R7 Lancaster; Stanley Longenecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Longenecker, R1 Strasburg; Raymond Denlinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Denlinger, R4 Lancaster; and Aaron Landis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Landis, R1 Strasburg.

Miss Kimble will accompany the girls, and Victor Longenecker, R3 Elizabethtown, local 4-H Club leader, will accompany the boys.

The group will return following the Dec. 1 annual 4-H banquet, arriving home Dec. 2.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, Communist party chief, recently revealed that the Soviet Union had developed a twin-jet medium bomber with a range of 3,100 miles.
