Check Your Budget—You'll See Telephone Service Remains a Big Bargain

Look at the basic items in your cost of living and you'll see that they have risen far beyond the cost of telephone service. Your telephone bill in no way reflects the increased cost of furnishing you with service. Every item of operating cost - wages - taxes - materials - have risen far beyond our regulated service rates.

The mechanization and service improvement program designed to give you service of the type and quality you naturally desire is well underway. Next year it will be substantially complete with the entire system furnishing modern improved dial service. Five million dollars is being spent on this program. To do this, financing by private investors and insurance companies is necessary. Without adequate earnings, based on a reasonable rate structure, such financing and such construction is impossible.

At the proposed new rates, telephone service will continue to be one of today's big bargains in your budget.
